PRICE FIVE CENTS

Final Bulletins Bag Jap Planes

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Seven large Japanese seaplanes were destroyed at anchor in one attack by big U.S. PBY amphibian planes operating in the Aleutian area under "seemingly impossible" weather conditions, Rear-Admiral J. H. Towers, chief of the U.S. bureau of aeronautics, reported today.

'NOT ALARMING'

SEATTLE (AP)—Rep. Warren Magnuson (Dem., Wash.), came back from a five-day Alaskan visit today "feeling the war situation in Alaska is serious but not alarming."

He said he saw no Japanese invasion threat.

"I'm convinced the military plan is to pulverize Kiska out of commission, or take it by invasion before winter," he said.

"The Jap invasion of the Aleutians is a scandal of the war."

To Solomon Isles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States navy announced today that a steady stream of supplies was moving to marine forces in the Solomon Islands where consolidation of shore positions "is progressing satisfactorily."

$300 to Aid Esther

VANCOUVER (CP)—Langley Prairie residents today had raised nearly $300 in aid of 14-year-old Esther Davis, whose nose was bitten off Tuesday by the family's pet dog.

She is in Vancouver General Hospital, where Dr. A. K. Haywood, superintendent, said she may be sent to Toronto for treatment later after danger of infection has passed, but a plastic surgeon who has charge of her case said her nose would be built up here.

Footless Woman Dies

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. C. F. Thompson, 32-year-old fisherman who cut her foot off with a fishing knife after it had become entangled in the drive shaft of her motor boat, died today of double pneumonia.

Ont. Election Soon?

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Star said today in a dispatch from Niagara Falls, Ont., that "indications of an impending general election in Ontario were seen by political observers here with the announcement that Premier Hepburn would make speeches at Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur and Fort William late next week."

"They follow appearances of the Premier at a number of both formal and informal gatherings in recent weeks," the dispatch said.

Rent Conviction

VANCOUVER (CP)—In what is believed the first conviction of a real estate firm collecting a rental in excess of that set by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, P. C. Gibbons and Company Limited today was fined $25 and costs in city police court. The firm pleaded guilty to unlawfully receiving or collecting rental in excess of that fixed by the board.

F.D.R. Note Displayed

LONDON (CP)—President Roosevelt's message to Prime Minister Churchill on the first anniversary of the signing of the Atlantic Charter was given prominent display today in late editions of the London press.

Three newspapers carried the text of the message, two of them on page one.

Earlier editions of London papers made no comment on the anniversary.

368 Britons Killed

LONDON (CP)—Civilian air raid casualties totaling 368 killed and 803 injured seriously in Britain during July were announced today by the Ministry of Home Security. The dead included 40 children and 160 women.

Want $10 Car License

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Automobile Association will appeal to the provincial government this year for a flat $10 license fee for all cars. This decision was taken at a dinner meeting of the organization when Frank Bird, secretary-manager, declared that "due to gasoline and tire rationing, motorists are receiving little value for the amount of money they expend on car licenses."

Soviet Army Holds Approach To Stalingrad

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—The Red Army held stoutly on the approaches to Stalingrad today and claimed impressive successes northwest of Moscow, but the Soviet information bureau acknowledged that Russian troops in the Caucasus had fallen back before Nazi columns driving toward the Black Sea port of Novorossick and the grain fields.

The bureau's noon communiqué reported that Russian artillery, pounding away at steadily attacking German forces on the flanks of the Stalingrad front, had knocked out more than 100 enemy tanks, 35 armored cars and 350 trucks.

All the enemy assaults were repulsed with heavy losses, two complete German companies being wiped out in one attack and 600 men being killed in another, the bulletin declared.

Unofficially, however, reported later that the Germans actually had broken through and reached the Don below Kletskaya, 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad, only to be hurled back by a furious Russian counter-attack.

Germans Face Russia 'Crisis' Stockholm Hears

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter suggested today that a Russian offensive northwest of Moscow had confronted the Germans with a "crisis," the Swedish radio reported in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS.

Only fragmentary reports on an offensive in that area have come from Moscow, but the Swedish broadcaster said, "the situation on the eastern front has now developed into a crisis for both the belligerents, the Dagens Nyheter's military correspondent writes today."

CRITICAL FACTOR

"The critical factor for the Germans, the newspaper points out, lies in whether their forces are really sufficient both to annihilate the Russian armies in the Don elbow and for a decisive victory on the northern front."

"In this respect the Russians' new offensive northwest of Moscow may prove to be of the most vital significance."

"This offensive may force the Germans to adopt new and far-reaching measures, and it may thus influence the defence on the shores of the Rivers Don and Kuban, and right up into the mountain regions of the Caucasus."

"The German reports of large-scale bombing attacks against powerful Russian forces in depth on the northern sector indicates that it is a question of something far different from and more extensive than the usual short-lived diversionary thrusts which have always characterized the Russian offensive tactics in critical situations."

"From the German point of view, therefore, the crisis consists in having to decide whether one dare take risks on the Rzhev front without weakening their forces in the south, notably their fighting forces in the air, but also other units as well, in a desperate attempt, and give the Russians a breathing space down there and the time to organize fresh resistance."

First Adless Paper In Canada Planned

MONTREAL (CP)—A new fortnightly publication, Alert, will be launched in Canada next month, A. A. Anderson, Montreal printing establishment, announces. It will present the news along the style of New York's PM, and has a Dominion charter.

Alert will solicit no advertising, will be run on a co-operative basis. In tabloid form, it will be circulated throughout Canada. Mr. Anderson said prominent Canadian writers have agreed to help Alert in an advisory capacity, including Leslie Roberts, Montreal, and Judith Robinson, Toronto.

Buys First Stamps in War Savings Drive

J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Vancouver Island Division of the National War Finance Committee, is Miss Canada's first customer.

While making his purchase today, Mr. Spencer expressed both his personal appreciation and that of the National War Finance Committee to the large group of young ladies who are so generously giving their time and talent to this somewhat exacting task of publicizing and selling War Savings Stamps.

In reply to a question concerning the duties of Miss Canada, Mr. Spencer stated that some 80 young ladies would cover social, public and sports functions and keep War Savings Stamps constantly before the public. He noted that Victorians in constantly increasing numbers are including War Savings Stamps in their daily purchases and weekly and monthly budgets and he felt the ready sales outlets provided by Miss Canada would be welcomed as a convenience.

A second group of Miss Canada girls will call on the large number of retail merchants who have promised to co-operate with the Minister of Finance by placing War Savings Stamps on sale in their stores. Miss Canada will make regular calls on this group of patriotic merchants, supplying them with material and assisting them whenever possible.

"These young ladies are undertaking an important job," said Mr. Spencer. "Their services are voluntary, their assignments will not always be easy, but they have consented graciously and without hesitation to do the job. I am confident that the merchants and people of Victoria will instantly recognize the girls' work as a wartime task and will greet them courteously and co-operate with them fully."

In extending his best wishes for success to Miss Canada, Mr. Spencer again stressed that, while the bright red apron and saucy blue cap might add a certain glamour to her assignment, she would be considered an important member of a Dominion-wide organization and her work would be an important part of Canada's financial war effort.

Pacific Battle Broadens

This is a close-up of the little islands that may mark opening of the advance of the United Nations in the Pacific. Here American forces fought their first real offensive land and sea action against the Japs in the war begun by Nippon on Dec. 7, 1941.

By MURLIN SPENCER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS,
AUSTRALIA (AP)—The Battle of the Solomon Islands exploded over a broadening area of the South Seas today with Allied bombers blasting away at Japanese warships and transports apparently trying to reinforce garrisons hurried out of three coastal areas by United States Marines.

Allied flying fortresses and medium bombers caught the enemy vessels in New Guinea waters, west of the Solomons,

Thursday and drove home three separate attacks, a headquarters communiqué reported. Bad weather prevented the pilots from observing the full extent of the damage.

There was every indication nevertheless that this first Allied offensive of the war now had grown into a clash of major proportions and one which might alter the course of the Pacific struggle.

(The Japanese reported—with-out confirmation from any Allied source—that their forces in the Solomons action had sunk 13 British and American cruisers, nine destroyers, 10 transports and three submarines; had damaged one cruiser, three destroyers and one transport, and shot down 58 planes. Japanese losses were given as two cruisers slightly damaged and 21 planes lost. It was announced last Monday that Allied losses then included a cruiser sunk and two cruisers, two destroyers and a transport damaged.)

Cabinet Action Urged to Save Stately Trees

A direct plea for definite government action to preserve Cathedral Grove and Buttle Lake timber and suggestions for the establishment of a more generous forestry policy in the interests not only of scenic value and tourist attraction, but also future commercial worth, was made to Premier John Hart and the cabinet today by the British Columbia Natural Resources Conservation League.

The representations were promised sympathetic consideration, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said following the cabinet session.

Making the appeal on behalf of the conservation league were: Hon. H. H. Stevens, Frank Burd, J. B. Leyland, Reeve J. Edwards, E. G. Vaynes, D. T. Tomson, Frank Bird and H. E. Harris from the lower mainland; Kenneth Drury, Harold Husband, Wm. Clark, J. V. Johnson and Harold Brown, Victoria, and Mayor V. B. Harrison, Nanaimo.

DEEP CONCERN

"We plead with the government to take very definite action in connection with Cathedral Grove and Buttle Lake—these are immediately before us—and should this time pass with no action taken it is our opinion that the impression throughout the province would be one of deep concern," a brief submitted by the delegation said.

Following detailed submission on the value of the forests, the delegation suggested:

"That a standing committee of the Legislature should be set up, which at each session would consider the policy relating to the preservation of game of all kinds and controlling the game life of the province, the extension of the policy in connection with stocking, the lakes and streams with game fish. This committee could, we believe, do valuable work and be most helpful to the government."

"A complete study be made of the present forestry policy, having in view the conservation of the timber resources of the province and the revision of the system of fees and charges in order that the province itself may secure a reasonable return on the value of the asset surrendered; at the same time giving due consideration to the rights of owners of timber already alienated and the adoption of a standing policy by the government that it will exchange unalienated timber for stands strategically located from a scenic standpoint."

"That in regard to the enormous revenue collected from the forests in the past and still continuing, that much more generous provision be made in the estimates for funds to carry out the policy indicated in the preceding paragraph for fire prevention and other dangers to the forests."

COMMEND OWNERS

Dealing specifically with the Cathedral Grove issue the brief expressed commendation of the offer of owners of the timber to exchange it for timber elsewhere and urged the government to meet them half way.

During the last 30 years, the brief added, 69,788,000,000 feet b.m. of timber had been cut bringing to the government $88,700,000 in fees.

Rome Expels 76,000 Fascists

NEW YORK (CP)—BBC today said more than 76,000 members of the National Fascist Party in Italy have been expelled.

The broadcast was heard here by CBS.

The purge was announced in Rome today, the broadcast said, at a meeting of the directorate of the party. Mussolini presided.

Reasons for the expulsion were given in a report by the party secretary. They included infraction of the rationing regulations, refusal to take part in voluntary militia for national safety, omission to wear the Fascist badge and lukewarm interest in party affairs.

The report said that a systematic examination of the position of every Fascist was carried out to eliminate what it called "harmful deadweight," and added that the process of elimination is being continued.

Mediterranean Battle

Italian Warships Turn Tail, Run; Manchester Lost; U.S. Fliers Help

LONDON (CP)—One of the greatest sea and air battles of the Mediterranean has cost Britain the cruiser Manchester and the aircraft carrier Eagle, but resulted in delivery of reinforcements and new planes for Malta and saw Italy's cruisers again turn tail and run, the Admiralty announced today.

Known Axis losses included two submarines sunk and two cruisers hit by torpedoes, said the Admiralty's communiqué which today gave the first official allied account of the battle which had been in progress since Tuesday.

The Admiralty intimated that the convoy might have suffered further losses or damage, saying, "It is not to be expected that extensive and dangerous operations of this type, carried out in close proximity to enemy bases, can be completed without loss."

EXAGGERATED

It declared, however, that published Axis claims were known to be exaggerated.

Combined German and Italian claims included: Sunk, three cruisers, two destroyers, 21 merchant ships and the aircraft carrier Eagle; damaged, one battleship, two aircraft carriers, including the British aircraft carrier Furious and the United States aircraft carrier Wasp and "numerous other steamships and men-of-war."

Originally, however, the Germans had claimed only 21 merchant ships were in the entire convoy.

With the exception of the Eagle and the Manchester, apparently in the same action, there has been no confirmation of these Axis claims from any source.

The Manchester was a 9,400-ton cruiser, completed Aug. 4, 1938. Her peacetime complement was 700 men. Besides 12 six-inch guns she carried three planes.

(Comment on the Vichy charges was not immediately available in London.)

'Real Fight At Hand'

LONDON (CP)—The French people were advised via the Moscow radio today to "prepare for armed struggle" because "the real fight is at hand," while reports from German-occupied Europe told of new acts of sabotage and new Nazi executions and reprisals.

Moscow dispatches quoted Roger Garreau, fighting French representative in the Russian capital, as making the plea for preparation for "open insurrection."

Fighting French headquarters in London declined to comment. Recent French broadcasts from London have carefully avoided keying the people to expectation that the time is near for Allied invasion and an accompanying outbreak on their part.

Official Czech circles reported the execution of 10 of their countrymen on various charges at Prague and Bruenn in two days this week.

Quoting official German statements, the Czechs said four were executed at Prague on accusations of preparing high treason and four for arson and "black-out crimes," while two were executed at Bruenn on charges of operating a secret wireless transmitter.

Alberta and Comox Coal To Go Off Market Here

All Comox coal is to be shut out of the Victoria and Vancouver domestic markets, Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced to the fuel trade here. The reason, officials said, was that Comox, which is a high-grade steam coal, will be held at Union Bay for bunkering ships.

A board order, dealers were told, will at the same time prohibit the use of pea coal in greenhouses. The object of this is to make more pea coal available for householders who require it for automatic-stoked furnaces.

At the same time all import of

The Admiralty disclosed that many of her crew were rescued and others may have reached French Tunisia, near where she went down.

The German high command claims the British aircraft carrier Furious had been severely damaged and the United States aircraft carrier Wasp set afire by six direct bomb hits in a running attack on a big Allied Mediterranean convoy.

A special German communiqué listed the Furious as "severely crippled" and asserted it "called at Gibraltar with a heavy list."

The communiqué also claimed the Wasp "is trying to reach Malta."

U.S. FLIERS HELP

CAIRO (AP)—Fliers who took part in the American air force bombing of three Italian cruisers at the Greek harbor of Pylos reported today that one of the ships, hit squarely with two 1,000-pound bombs, would be out of operations for a long time.

The second cruiser was set afire and a third damaged in the 1,300-mile round trip attack which put a big new dent in Mussolini's battered navy.

PLANE HIT

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A second victim of an attack on an Air France seaplane over the Mediterranean died Thursday night and Vichy authorities charged responsibility to R.A.F. planes engaged in a big convoy battle.

A young girl passenger whose mother was killed in the machine-gunning of the regular Marseilles-Algiers seaplane died during the night. Six other persons were wounded, four of them gravely. Vichy authorities claimed four British-Hurricanes pursued the French craft which was hit by more than 100 machine gun bullets.

(Comment on the Vichy charges was not immediately available in London.)

American sources also reported the execution of a former chief clerk in the United States consulate at Salonika, Greece. A naturalized Greek, he was said to have been among 20 hostages shot.

The BBC, in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS, said also that Belgian patriots were reported to have attacked a German military airbase in the Liege district, destroying four planes and killing 16 Germans, while the Gestapo was said to have arrested 40 workmen in the search for persons responsible for wrecking two blast furnaces in a Belgian metallurgical factory.

Swiss dispatches from Oslo said today that a Norwegian was executed Wednesday for writing against the Nazi occupation authorities and circulating his work among his friends. He was convicted by a German military court.

Nazi broadcasts today repeated threats of death as reprisal against Netherlands hostages unless railway saboteurs in the occupied Netherlands surrendered by midnight tonight and fear was expressed by Netherlands government sources that a "terrible slaughter" is impending.

DRY SAANICH

In wartime, for reasons obvious and obscure, one resigns oneself to shortages of this and that commodity not absolutely essential to life, but one need not and should not suffer a total lack of an abundant and necessary adjunct to a white man's civilization such as common water.

But such is the case in Saanich, the Garden of Vancouver Island, where one enjoys water on odd days and does without on even days, or vice versa, according to one's locality. It is not uncommon to have no water inside the house from 8:30 in the morning till 10 at night, at which time a rusty liquid bursts in at intervals accompanied by shattering explosions.

Mr. Allen, the engineer, is sick, and I don't blame him, but some bright young lady in the water-works department, in explanation of the situation, tells me enthusiastically that there never is any water in the "dry" season. Doubtless she refers to some parched desert land where only an occasional oasis rewards the thirst of weary nomads, and not, heaven forbid, to the Garden of Vancouver Island.

OUR MONEY

There are several schools of thought in respect to our monetary system: That of the Free Economists, who would preserve our free banking process, but who would change the nature of money so that it could no longer be withheld from circulation without penalty to the holder; that of various groups who would rescind the privilege of the banks to issue notes and create bank credit, but who would still retain the present interest-exacting, wealth-restricting, crisis-creating money; and that of your interesting columnist, Bruce Hutchison, and many others, who would change neither the nature of money nor the method of its issue.

In the Times of Aug. 8, Mr. Hutchison, in his diatribe against money reform in general and the proposals of Mr. Slaght in particular, commenting on the proposal that the Bank of Canada should issue $1,200,000 in new money stated: "As this would about quadruple the present money supply the effect on prices

British Army Weakness Seen in 'Clique' Officers

NEW YORK — Charging that the British army has shown up badly in this war and has a "dismal record of failures" because it is controlled by a "decadent section of the British ruling class," Lord Strabolgi, chief Labor whip of the House of Lords, states in a signed article in Collier's Weekly that victory can only come with a democratic army.

"The British Army," Lord Strabolgi writes, "apart from many individual acts of bravery, has not shown up well in this war. Wherever it has fought on the mainland of Europe, it has been decisively defeated."

"If we leave out of account minor expeditions against the Vichy French, the British Army has two victories to its credit, against the Italians. With these exceptions, against both the Japanese and the Germans, the British Army has only chronicled a dismal record of failures."

Lord Strabolgi blames this record on the fact that the high command does not understand the war.

"This is a people's war," he writes, "but the British Army is not yet a people's army. It was I who first reminded my fellow-countrymen that if General Rommel had had the good fortune to be born on the British side of the North Sea he would still be a sergeant; indeed he would probably now be a retired sergeant, perhaps keeping a country inn."

"The British Army has been expanded from a force of 150,000 regulars and 600,000 territorials into a regular army of 3,500,000. But the key positions are still held by men drawn from a very narrow circle. Their influence permeates right through to all ranks. These leaders are brave, public-spirited and mean well. But they have not yet grasped either the technique or the nature of the present war."

"Brought up in the imperialist school, out of touch with the main currents of popular feeling and opinion, they have been quite incapable either in Whitehall or on the battle front of understanding a modern totalitarian war."

As an example of the attitude of the high command—"a clique within a class"—Lord Strabolgi cites the case of Malcolm Dunbar, who rose to be chief of staff of the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War and by his brilliant tactics won the Battle of the Ebro. Having proved himself a great leader and brilliant tactician, he joined the British Army at the outbreak of the present war and is still a corporal in the tank corps.

Yet Lord Strabolgi sees hope.

"Power is slipping from the hands of a decadent section of the British ruling class. Its privileges are going with the loss of its power. The disappearance of class privilege will enable the genius of the British race to manifest itself on the field of battle."

Americans Waiting To Raid Germany

NEW YORK (CP)—The BBC says United States Flying Fortresses, manned by American crews, are waiting in Britain to raid Germany and "they'll be going any time now."

A BBC correspondent who has been visiting one of the airfields taken over by the U.S. army air corps saw the Fortresses lined up and talked to their crews. He said the Americans are all keen to be among the first United States units to raid Germany.

Australia Catholics Eat Meat Friday's

SYDNEY (AAP)—Roman Catholics in Australia may eat meat on Fridays for the duration of the war, beginning Aug. 21.

This dispensation was granted by the Pope in response to a petition by Roman Catholic bishops in Australia pointing out the increasing difficulty of obtaining fish and other foods suitable for Fridays.

Exceptions to this dispensation will be Good Friday and Ash Wednesday. Most Rev. N. T. Gilroy, Archbishop of Sydney, urges Catholics, however, to continue to regard Friday as a day of mortification and outlined several religious exercises which he recommended that they practice in lieu of abstaining from meat.

TORONTO (CP)—The ban on eating meat on Fridays could be lifted for the duration of the war if the need arose here, officials of the Roman Catholic diocese of Toronto said.

Church officials said the ban could be lifted after an appeal to Rome but added present conditions in Toronto "do not warrant such action."

All Roman Catholic soldiers are permitted to eat meat on Fridays for the duration of the war.

Daughter Born To Lindberghs

DETROIT (AP)—A nine-pound daughter was born Thursday at Henry Ford Hospital to Anne Morrow Lindbergh, wife of Charles A. Lindbergh, the Detroit Free Press says.

The child was the fifth born to the famous flier and his wife and their second daughter. Their first child, Charles A. Jr., was kidnapped and slain in 1932.

Lindbergh now is employed by Ford as a consultant at the Willow Run bomber plant.

No Premature Second Front

SASKATOON (CP)—Canadians should be the last persons in the world to urge a premature second front in Europe, Gillis Purcell, general superintendent of The Canadian Press, said today as he warned the annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association against the "popular fantasy" that the second front is at hand.

"Our boys overseas are eager to get into France; their commander has stated they will," Mr. Purcell said. "Why not leave the job to the people who are on the spot; they will be the ones who pay the shot—not the easy way, with war-savings stamps and bonds, but with their lives."

"The task of the moment is that of the canny football coach; to keep the men patient until the proper time comes, rather than to get them worked up prematurely. Right now the weeklies can do a valuable job for Canada in this game of life and death by telling the grandstand quarter-backs to pipe down."

FREE PRESS

SASKATOON (CP)—C. V. Charters of the Brampton, Ont., Observer, managing-director of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, in an address prepared for delivery to the association's 23rd annual convention here, said "the fires of freedom will never burn out as long as they are fed with printer's ink."

"A free press is the cornerstone of democracy," he said. "It has the biggest job to do in a war economy. It is challenged today as never before. To maintain a free press we must sustain it. A free press is too often viewed as a corporate national right. It is that, but it is also an individual responsibility.

"We must deserve our privileges and prove equal to our responsibilities. Let us banish our inhibitions, our fears and exercise the power of the press to hasten victory and bring about a righteous and abiding peace."

Victim of Dog

Operate on Girl, Nose Bitten Off

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 14-year-old Langley Prairie girl whose nose was bitten off by a pet dog, started plastic treatments in a Vancouver hospital today after it was found unnecessary to send the girl east for special surgery.

A brother of the girl, Esther Davis, who had been bitten by the dog several years ago, shot the animal.

Esther was brought to hospital here from Langley Prairie, some 40 miles east, in a police motorcycle sidecar after a friend who volunteered to take her was stopped by a tire blowout.

Meantime, friends and neighbors of the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis, who started collections for a fund to take the girl east, said the money would be used to defray the cost of the girl's treatment.

Dr. A. O. Rose, who attended her at Langley Prairie, said the girl was sitting in her backyard when the dog suddenly sprang at her. All the flesh was taken off her nose, exposing the cartilage, Dr. Rose said.

Dr. Rose said that Esther had not been playing with the dog at the time and it apparently was paying no attention to her.

British Labor Asks India Conference

LONDON (CP)—The British Labor Party and the Trades Union Congress want the British government—and the All-India Congress to resume conferences leading to Indian independence of British rule.

In a message addressed to both the All-India Congress and the British government, the two Labor bodies urged the government "to make it clear that on abandonment of civil disobedience it would be ready to resume free and friendly discussions with a view to safeguarding and implementing the principles of Indian government already proclaimed."

The Labor Party and the Trades Union Congress said that if the All-India Congress took the view that India's unhampered war effort would "make all the difference between victory and defeat" and halted the disobedience campaign "they would have vindicated their claim to a position of equality in a free world state in the post-war world."

The Charter's Anniversary

TWELVE MONTHS AGO TODAY MR. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt presented an imposing outline of the design on which they believed a new world structure should be fashioned—"after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny." It was the sequel to a momentous secret meeting on the grey waters of the ocean which gave the product of their draughtsmanship its name. We said at the time that the document was "bold in its detail, liberal in its conception, and simple in its phrasing." That description of the Atlantic Charter requires no basic qualification or amendment. The extension of the conflict by the entrance of the third member of the Axis in the meantime requires no adjustment of its salient essentials. What effect its purport and implications have created in the bemused minds of the peoples of the totalitarian countries we have no means of knowing.

On this first anniversary it is well to recall that the 28 nations representing the democratic coalition have subscribed in general to the main principles of the Charter. And it should be noted again that the document affirmed that neither Great Britain nor the United States seeks any territorial aggrandizement; that borders be changed only on the expressed wishes of the peoples concerned; that all states, great and small, victorious and vanquished, shall have equal access to world trade and raw materials; that the whole economic field in all its ramified magnitude shall come under the microscope so that age-long defects are plainly visible and shall lend themselves to equitable correction and adjustment; that the aggressors shall be disarmed; and that "all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want."

The foregoing are the vital details that will be fitted into the structure of the new World Order which Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt envisioned just a year ago. Naturally enough that point in the structural design which emphasizes the desire "to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them" may still evoke apprehension among many who recall the Wilsonian policy of self-determination and the somewhat unhappy consequences which arose from the process of redrawing borders after the first Great War. Nor is it surprising that certain elements in several of the member states of the United Nations are finding it difficult to accommodate their thinking to conform to the revolutionary provisions of the Charter. Not even its bold, liberal and simple concept, for example, discouraged Viscount Bennett the other day from describing it to the House of Lords as "nothing more than the expression of hopes and aspirations" of the Prime Minister and the President. But he and others who assume that the end of the war will be the signal for the restoration of the status quo had better make up their minds to the inescapable fact that the old order, with all its social and economic inequalities and inequities, has gone forever.

Playing Safe Now

EARLY LAST YEAR RADIO BROADCASTERS with some claim to military knowledge and acquainted with the strategy of war enjoyed themselves immensely with predictions of the "next move" Hitler might be expected to make. This was the period when Mussolini was feeling particularly sorry for himself as he saw his invading army being gradually pushed toward the Adriatic by the valiant Greeks; it was after General Wavell's army of the Nile had liquidated the cream of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's divisions, and the liberty which Ethiopia subsequently attained was then a bright and early prospect. Then came the Battle of the Balkans and the whole scene in southeastern Europe and in North Africa quickly changed. We know the rest.

Not until Hitler himself disposed of some of the more pontifical prognostications, however, did the "experts" begin to climb down from their Olympian heights. But even on the Thursday preceding the Sunday on which the German Wehrmacht struck at the Soviet Union we well remember "a famous war correspondent" assuring a great invisible audience that he had unassailable information to the effect that within the "next week or so" the Fuehrer and Mr. Stalin would meet—"probably in Berchtesgaden"—to complete a military agreement that would alter the whole course of the war and present Britain in her splendid loneliness with numerous problems of insurmountable magnitude. Further comment on that "guess" would be superfluous.

But who among those who listened to the Town Meeting of the Air last November 10 remember what Major George Fielding Elliot said about the Japanese and their chances of surviving an overt act? Here are the well-known military expert's words: "Japan is in no position to fight a war with a group of major opponents; her army is sadly out of date, having not even one fully-armored division . . . and as for Japanese airpower, why it is almost nonexistent; it is inadequate to sustain an active fighting force of even 500 planes against real opposition. . . . The Japanese navy is good, but hopelessly handicapped by lack of air support." Much more of the same type of argument followed; finally he was quite sure that the geographical position of Japan "adds to her weakness." It may.

It is especially interesting to refer to Major Elliot's predictions and assertions if only to note that he no longer aspires to omniscience. His latest contribution to a popular weekly automatically classifies him with the rest of us; he plays safely with useful ifs and buts. Boiled down, he argues that "if" the Axis should succeed in knocking out Russia and China as fighting factors this year, the enemy would be able to control practically the whole of Europe and Asia and perhaps Africa. "BUT" as long as these members of the democratic coalition continue in the field "our two main enemies are separated by the vast land mass of Asia and eastern Europe." Quite so, Major Elliot; we are inclined to agree with your hypothesis.

60 Cents a Week

TOMORROW'S PAY CHEQUES COVERING this week for employees in most fixed-wage brackets will show an increase of 60 cents. The cost-of-living index during the last three months has shown a rise of 2.4 points. Under the regulations made by the government to protect employees against living cost increases, when wages were frozen at the end of last year, employees will receive increases at the rate of 25 cents a week for each point rise in the index. The increase will add to the national wage bill $1,000,000 a week for the next three months. At the end of this time another revision will be due on the basis of the index at that time. Actually, the increase will not make the employee any better off, as it represents only what the government estimates as the increase he is already meeting for the bare essentials of living.

Rise in food prices accounts for most of the rise in the index. Two items, beef and potatoes, make up 87 per cent of the advance. Beef prices rose almost by a full point. Chairman Donald Gordon of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has expressed the opinion that there may be a recession in these prices by the end of the next three months. But some economists are not so certain that a decrease in the index may result. They fear that any easing in one group of foodstuffs may by autumn be counterbalanced by rises in others so far largely unaffected.

The fact is that we are going up against shortages of supplies in an increasing number of lines, due partly to scarcity of labor. This already has become particularly noticeable in agriculture where higher wages are being forced as a result of the competition of war industries and the general shortage of manpower. All factors are combining to give price control a severe testing during the coming months. It may be that it will prove impossible to hold prices in the face of growing scarcity without an extension of rationing.

No Sale at Jericho?

WHAT IS BEHIND THE RECENT announcement that the spacious, clubhouse of the Jericho Golf and Country Club in Vancouver had been acquired for an officers' quarters and mess, and the further announcement yesterday that the reported sale had fallen through? Was the Department of National Defence satisfied in the first place that this property was suitable and desirable for the purposes designated? And how was it that the deal originally heralded as something approaching an excellent bargain is now regarded as an unsatisfactory transaction?

There may be a good and sufficient explanation of this apparently extraordinary business. But Minister of National Defence Ralston must not be surprised if the general public has obtained an exceedingly unfavorable impression of this latest incident as affecting an important branch of the fighting services. It would clear the air if he would take official cognizance of the matter by issuing a reassuring statement over his own signature.

Goebbelsian Wails

GERMANY'S PROPAGANDA CHIEF Goebbels has found it desirable to dole out verbal soothing syrup to those millions of people in the Reich who no longer put much trust in the Luftwaffe or elaborate anti-aircraft defences to discourage the Royal Air Force. Nor will Hitler's regimented dupes find much consolation in the Herr Doktor's new name for the raids of the bomber command; the little man now calls them "terroristic" and bitterly denounces them because, as he tries to argue, they are directed specifically against "residential areas."

All Goebbelsian propaganda, of course, has run true to the fantastic Nazi form. But what intrigues us at this stage is how the German people feel towards the portly Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering who assured them at the beginning of the war that they would be spared aerial attack. And how comes it that this fat and flabby brute permits the little publicity director to recognize the Royal Air Force's program at all? Was it not Hitler, moreover, who once boasted that for every British bomb dropped within the Nazi realm one thousand would be hurled at Britons in their island home? What will he and Goebbels have to say when American bombers darken the blue canopy which covers the so-called "Herrenvolk"?

There are to be no more cuffs on trousers, and with the new credit restrictions it is hard to get trousers on the cuff.

Bruce Hutchison

AUTHOR'S COMPLAINT

A NOTED AUTHOR, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, complains that the women of America don't read books. Or, if they do, they forget the contents immediately, and even the title. Of course, they forget. I have even forgotten the name of the author who makes the complaint.

And what a wonderful faculty is forgetfulness! How unbearable it would be if we remembered everything we read, if all the accumulated facts of even a week's reading were to remain to haunt us! Nevertheless, even though the human mind is beautifully built to discard everything inconvenient to it, books are very dangerous things and probably should be abolished altogether.

A fellow who has never read a book for 10 years suddenly picks up a work on economics, or military strategy or diet, and he is never any use again. He will stand on street corners hammering his economics into your chest with the point of his finger, or he will write long letters to the paper on the strategy of the Second Front, or he will make the family lose its appetite for dinner by his discussions of diet. Why, not many weeks ago, I was at a house in Ottawa and one of the largest businessmen in Canada talked for three hours about diet until everyone present became positively ill with malnutrition.

DILUTION

BOOKS ARE SAFE in quantity when their ideas are diluted, when the craziness of one author is counterbalanced by the prejudices of another. But, taken alone, the dose is likely to prove fatal. I read a book a few years ago and have never been able to write a satisfactory column since then. I blame it entirely on the reading habit.

But women are worse than men. They are not honest about their reading. They chisel. In a detective story invariably they will read the last page first to find out who did the murder. In a serious book they will skim through the contents, never giving the author a chance to explain himself, and then wonder why people were ever impressed by him.

EVIL HABIT

EVEN WORSE is the review habit. I am one of those who would abolish all book reviews because they damage and pervert the public mind. People read them instead of the books and this is very hard on both the writer and the reader. The writer finds that people do not buy his books because they have discovered all they want to know about them in the reviews. The reader, on the other hand, never gets any semblance of the books out of the reviews.

Never by any chance does a review have any relation to the book. It may flatter the book, it may make it seem much better than it is, or much worse, but it never conveys any real idea of its contents. I have lately read some scores of reviews of a book I am interested in, and most of them are far too kind, the reviewers having approached it with a kind of weak good-nature; but nowhere is it possible to discover any indication of the book's contents or to recognize them from the published explanation of them.

This, I take it, is generally true of all book reviews, for the reviewer would lose his job if he merely explained what the author was talking about. No newspaper is going to pay a reviewer for doing that. It expects him to have ideas of his own which will attract readers not to the book but to the newspaper. Thus the reviewer feels bound only to mention the book in the first paragraph and then to write an essay of his own on a favorite subject. Usually it is better than the book, certainly better in the case of the book I have in mind; but it is not the book, it is not the author's view. It is the view of the reviewer.

I have before me an excellent history of Canada which I may review here after reading it; but if I follow the proper pattern I shall say that Mr. So-and-So has written an excellent history published by So-and-So at such-and-such a price. And then I shall write a column on my views about the King government and, as a concession to the book, I shall insert a paragraph at the end regretting that he did not mention the King government at all.

CULTURE

THE RESULT OF ALL this is that a generation crammed with book reviews is full of interesting facts, but not the facts prepared by the authors. This may not matter. It may be that the public is better off filled with what it believes to be the contents of books than it would be filled with the books themselves.

But the public, and especially the female half of it, is not honest about it. You never hear a lady at a tea party say that she got a certain idea from a book review. She invariably got it from the book. If she reads enough reviews she can appear among her friends to have read every book on the market. If she can quote one line or mention one character from the current best-seller she can maintain a reputation of deep culture and be just as happy as if she had it. And she will not run the risk of reading a book and having her mind permanently distorted by a single idea.

Parallel Thoughts

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, and herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.—Genesis 1.11.

Nature is but a name for an effect whose cause is God.—Cowper.

SIDE GLANCES

Gerard's Formula for Germany

From Halifax Herald

James Watson Gerard, who was American Ambassador to Germany from 1913 to the entry of the United States into the first Great War in 1917, knows the German people about as well as any one of his fellow-countrymen. He knows Germany against the background of 1914-18 . . . he knows the mistakes of the aftermath of that struggle . . . and he has no illusions today about what should be done when the Nazi regime is crushed.

This is the Gerard "formula for a lasting peace":

1. Break up Germany into impotent atoms which never can coalesce into another dangerous union.
2. Crush the spirit of conquest so completely that it never can rise again.
3. Maintain world peace with an international police force.

As a student of German affairs (he learned in a hard school), Mr. Gerard knows that the roots of this obscene "Third Reich" extends back far beyond the aggression of 1914. He knows that the confederation achieved by Bismarck was an instant and constant threat to the peace of Europe and the world. He sees the pattern of the Nazi method, the destruction of the post-1918 Republic and the Weimar Constitution, the obliteration of all state rights and functions, and the welding of a "Greater Reich" into one massive state under the control of one man and party, backed by Gestapo and Storm Troops.

The Bismarckian Empire was composed of the following 26 states and divisions: The kingdoms of Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony and Wurttemberg; the grand duchies of Baden, Hesse, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Oldenburg and Saxe-Weimar; the duchies of Anhalt, Brunswick, Saxe-Altenburg, Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and Saxe-Meiningen; the principalities of Lippe-Detmold, Reuss-Greiz, Reuss-Schleiz, Waldeck-Pyrmont, Schaumburg-Lippe, Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt, Schwarzburg-Sondershausen; the free towns of Bremen, Hamburg and Lubeck; and the imperial territory of Alsace-Lorraine.

J. W. Gerard has interpreted in his formula what is in the minds of all thinking people who know their Germany—that the "Third Reich" will have to be resolved into its component parts; that Prussian domination will have to be broken completely. For this Nazism is merely the old Prussianism in new guise.

COWICHAN BAY SEED FARM

Henry Dods in Cowichan Leader

As reference has been made in recent issues of the Leader to the present Rennie Seed Farm, I will give you a few notes in connection therewith which may be of interest.

Part of the present farm, about 144 acres, originally belonged to Mr. Fraser, a Hudson's Bay Company official in Victoria. His tenant was Ralph Richardson. In 1878 my uncle, Thomas Williams, bought the place from Mr. Fraser. In 1883, Mr. Williams sold to G. T. Corfield, then a new arrival in this country and just married. Some years later Mr. Corfield acquired the farm of James Boal, adjoining.

During a real estate boom about 1912 a prominent firm in Victoria inserted a half-page advertisement in the newspapers for several days, showing a subdivision map of the Corfield farm divided into five and six-acre plots. However, shortly afterwards the inevitable slump came, and no sales were made.

Other owners on the "Flats" at that time were Robert White, on what is now the Boeing place, Edward Marriner, Archibald Dods on the present Share farm, Mrs. Sarah Williams, and the Marshall brothers (Tom and Matt), whose place is now owned by J. Spears. The balance of the Flats is Indian reserve.

Airwomen Arrive In Newfoundland

OTTAWA (CP)—Recent arrival of the first contingent of the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force at an operational base in Newfoundland was described by Section Officer Frances Douglas, who accompanied the group, in a story released by R.C.A.F. public relations.

The train trip from port to the station ended at 4 a.m., but the station's commanding officer—unnamed for security reasons—was on hand to meet them, with Section Officer Elizabeth Ble of Moose Jaw, Sask., senior officer of the contingent, who had gone to Newfoundland ahead.

In the afternoon, when they marched onto the parade ground, the station C.O. made a brief address.

"I am proud to welcome you," he said. "I expect to be even more proud as you fit into your new jobs, replacing men of the R.C.A.F. as the first of the women's division to be posted to a station of this kind, yours is a great responsibility."

"In your efficiency, your morale and your smartness you are setting a standard, not for yourselves alone, but for all who may come here later. I am confident that the standard will be a high one."

Then the airwomen got busy settling themselves in their new, modern barracks block. Blue uniforms with "Canada" badges on the shoulders gave place temporarily to dungarees, and floors took on an impressive shine. Photos, knick-knacks and mirrors were put up. The personal touches of home appeared.

Another day and the women's division personnel began their real work as cooks, stenographers, hospital assistants, mess women, parachute packers, telephone operators, motor transport drivers and equipment assistants and as "general duties."

Weddings

MACLEAN-KERNOHAN

A former Victorian was the bridegroom at a quiet wedding at Chalmers United Church, Ottawa, on Aug. 15 at 8 p.m., when Miss Mary C. Kernohan of Winnipeg became the bride of Mr. Samuel MacLean. Rev. Dr. J. Woodside performed the ceremony and after a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and then by boat to Ottawa and a week in Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. MacLean will make their home at Strathmore, Que.

The groom was born in Victoria and attended the Victoria High School, Victoria College and the University of British Columbia. In 1938 he left for the east to work in the Civil Aviation Division of the Department of Transport and is now with the Canadian Pacific Air Lines in Montreal. The bride was formerly with the Civil Aviation Division and latterly has been working in the Department of Munitions and Supply in Dayton, Ohio.

ROBINSON-COOK

The wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, at 8 last evening, between Alma Dorothy Cook, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cook, Oak Bay, and Writer Francis Ernest Robinson, R.C.N.V.R., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Robinson, 1706 Denman Street, the couple being united by Ven. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns. The wedding music was played by Mr. F. T. C. Wickett, and the choir was in attendance.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. N. J. Williams, a friend of the family, and looked charming in a powder blue sheer afternoon dress with a small veil-trimmed felt hat to match. She wore a double string of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her corsage bouquet was of Talisman roses, centred with gardenias. Mrs. Mary Williams was matron-of-honor, and wore a beige and rose ensemble, with hat and accessories to match and with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and heather. The groom was supported by Writer Jack Maxwell, R.C.N.V.R., and the ushers were Writers Jack Crawford, R.C.N.V.R., and Ralph Stacey, R.C.N.V.R.

The bride was preceded up the aisle by eight choir boys singing "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden." Picardy gladioli were on the altar and the chancel rail was decorated with a profusion of mixed flowers. The guest pews were tied with posies of mixed carnations. During the signing of the register the choir sang "O Perfect Love."

The reception which followed was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Williams, 2595 Dalhousie Street, where the guests were welcomed by the mother of the groom, wearing dusty rose with beige hat and accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink and mauve sweet peas and gypsophylla. The bride couple received their guests, standing between baskets of Picardy gladioli and Baby Royal dahlias.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake, the base of which stood in a ruffle of pink tulle. On each side of the cake were tall pink tapers set in a pair of lovely silver candlesticks. Mr. Wickett proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon trip on the Mainland, the bride wore a hip-length brown fur jacket over her wedding dress. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will take up residence at 1029 McClure St. for September.

Women to Register Next Month for Selective Service

MONTREAL (CP)—Elliott M. Little, director of national selective service, said in an interview here Thursday that national registration of women would start early in September.

He emphasized that while the registration was compulsory, women would not be forced to accept offered positions "at this time." He indicated, however, if there were serious developments in the war the voluntary basis on which women enter war industry might be set aside. He did not elaborate on this point.

Mr. Little said the national registration would show just how many women were available for war industry.

"The voluntary response of women so far in the war effort compares very favorably to the response made by men," he said.

DAY NURSERIES

"We must consider each woman's position individually in this scheme," he said. "We must consider her responsibilities." He commended the day nursery scheme which permitted married women to enter war work while their children were being well taken care of in nurseries.

Mr. Little said one of the objects of the registration would be to find out just how many women were available in the war industry areas. However, it might be necessary to move women to industrial areas. This would only be done if there were no other solution to this war labor problem.

Ultimately, he said, the percentage of women employed in the majority of war industries would exceed that of men. An exception would be the steel industry, which could not absorb many women on account of the heavy work involved.

C.W.A.C. Officer Is Made Captain

VERMILION, Alta. (CP)—Lieut. Rene M. Hawes, commandant of the Canadian Army Women's Corps training centre here, has been promoted to the rank of captain, it was announced today.

Capt. Hawes organized the Canadian Women's Training Corps at Vancouver in 1939, soon after the outbreak of war. Before the war she was a private secretary and lived for some time in England and abroad. She was born in London, and just before the outbreak of war traveled around the world.

She joined the C.W.A.C. Sept. 17, 1941, at Vancouver as a volunteer. She was later promoted to the rank of sergeant and was commissioned in October, 1941, as a 2nd lieutenant, and in December was promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

She has been platoon commander in Vancouver and Victoria and last March was sent to the C.W.A.C. training centre at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., where she took an administrative course.

Capt. Hawes arrived in Vermilion to take charge of the school July 8.

American Girl Fliers Going to Britain

By DONALD KNIGHT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL (CP)—Four American women fliers, the last of a group of 24 to train here for service in Britain with the air transport service, have finished their six weeks' training course and are waiting to leave for Britain.

The group, organized by Jacqueline Cochrane, noted American flier, comprises women pilots who have been selected from those holding commercial licenses in the United States. Their duties in Britain are to relieve mail pilots for active service . . . duties which British women pilots share with them.

EXPERT PARACHUTIST

Leader of this latest group in point of experience is Mary Nicholson of Greenboro, N.C., who has completed 700 hours' flying during the past 14 years, after receiving instruction in return for making exhibition parachute jumps. She said she made four jumps and "didn't like it, but wanted to fly so . . ." Miss Nicholson spent her flying time barnstorming, instructing and "a little pleasure flying."

Of her new venture she said: "It's a wonderful opportunity to gain experience and at the same time be helpful. Women can do lots of things to relieve men for active duty. In England girls have done a fine job as auxiliary pilots. They may not have a place in combat, but there are lots of other jobs to go around."

The Experts Say:

By MARGARET ECKER
OTTAWA (CP)—Strategy for the wartime home drawn up by folk who should know:

KITCHEN FATS—Laura Fepfer of the Agriculture Department's consumer service, says Canadian housewives can help beat Hitler with fats... Salvage edible fats for cooking and send the surplus to salvage depots so the glycerine can be extracted for use in high explosives... The consumer kitchen has proved that chicken and pork fats are excellent cooking agents. Don't use lamb fat for baking, because it has a too-distinct flavor, but it's useful for meat dishes... Smoked pork fats are good for pastry in meat pies and sausage rolls... One cup of butter can be replaced by three-quarters of a cup of chicken fat clarified (double the amount of salt in the recipe), seven-eighths of a cup of beef fat clarified, or ½ cup of suet, plus ¼ cup of liquid.

QUALITY—Byrne Hope Sanders—"Mrs. Consumer" of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board—wants Canadian women to keep an eagle eye on the things they buy; not only on the price, but also on the quality... If a dress remains at the same price, but is reduced in quality, the price ceiling has been broken, just as if the price went up... The Prices Board is anxious to hear of any violations of the quality rule.

FLOUR—Apartment dwellers who have small storage space are finding the prices board regulations eliminating two-pound bags a bit of a headache... Flour is only to be sold in seven-pound parcels... The prices board recommends that neighbors co-operate and split one of the big bags among several families.

COTTON—Even the supply of Cotton is not unlimited in wartime and Cotton Administrator J. G. Dodd urges careful laundering to conserve garments now being used... Soaking cottons overnight loosens dirt, saves time and lessens wear... Cover garments with water and use a good, mild soap... After washing, rinse well... Squeeze dry... A small amount of starch will keep the material clean longer and save washtub deterioration.

COOLNESS—Marion Harlow of the Pensions and Health Department's nutrition services gives these hints for eating to keep cool: For appetizers use celery, carrots, thin slices of green beans, turnips or parsnips which keep your temperature down and add to your mineral and vitamin quota... Jellied salads also are good summer foods... Remember that heat destroys Vitamin C, and heat only a small part of the tomato juice to dissolve the gelatin, then add the rest cold... The salad jellies quicker, too.

TOOLS—More hints for making your kitchen utensils last longer, now that they are harder to replace under wartime manufacturing regulations: Never allow enamelware to boil dry and don't pour cold water into a hot pan. Don't scrape pots with anything sharper than a wooden clothespin... Soapy water boiled in pans will loosen obstinate burns without cracking or chipping the surface... Dry iron cooking utensils carefully to avoid rust... Never scour tin utensils or the top thin coating of tin will wear off... After removing burned food by soaking, stand your pans in a warm place to remove all trace of moisture before putting them away.

Shearings, punchings and blankings of aluminum, often large enough for making small clips, gussets, washers, etc., are sorted and used on many jobs that would otherwise consume full sheets of aluminum.

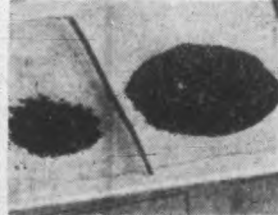

Tea Problem Solved

Tea and coffee drinkers can "stretch" their rations by careful preparation, says Marie Holmes, cooking expert. For coffee, use only best quality, measure accurately, let bubble a bit to extract all flavor.

Robbing the pot of its own traditional "one for the pot," and leveling off tea and coffee in the measuring spoons, will make beverages of good strength. Remember, weekly rations allow tea or coffee, not both.

Here's what your week's allowance of tea or coffee looks like "in the flesh." Ounce of tea will supply 12 and a half cups of "first-run" cheer, and coffee allowance can be made to yield 30 steaming cups.

Wants More Health

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Gordon Bates, president and founder of the Health League of Canada, Tuesday told delegates at the annual convention of the Canadian Teachers' Federation meeting here this week that there is great need for more health education in Canada today.

"The cost of illness in a small country like Canada is $1,000,000,000 a year," he said. "The cost of preventive steps taken by Dominion, provincial and municipal governments in a year is only $7,000,000."

Rust Research— One Woman's Field

By JOAN STEEL
Dr. Margaret Newton, recently appointed a Fellow of the Royal Canadian Scientific Society is unwilling to take personal credit for her pioneer work in rust research. "It is impossible to give credit to a single person," she said when interviewed. "We work co-operatively in the rust labs."

Canada has been saved millions of dollars, grain authorities say, through experiments Dr. Newton has performed in the Dominion rust research laboratories in Winnipeg. She has made the study of grain and its diseases her life work.

Graduating from McGill University in 1918 she took her M.A. there the following year, then studied at the University of Minnesota and received her doctorate of philosophy.

Since the construction in 1925 of the government rust laboratory in Winnipeg, when the problem of wheat rust in the Red River Valley became acute, Dr. Newton has been constantly employed in research on puccinia graminis tritici, or wheat stem rust.

Dr. MILDRED H. McAFEE, RIGHT, PRESIDENT OF WELLESLEY COLLEGE, becomes a lieutenant commander in the new women's naval reserve corps when Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, centre, administers the oath with Admiral Ernest J. King looking on.

Russia, was so impressed that in 1933 he made a special trip to Winnipeg to investigate Dr. Newton's work. He asked if she would go to Russia to develop rust research in that country. Dr. Newton declined the request but consented to make a summer trip that year to Russia where she surveyed conditions and made suggestions for experiments.

Dr. Newton brushes this incident aside as unimportant, "because," she explains, "it did not contribute to work here in rust research." Apparently she preferred her place in the red brick building on the University of Manitoba campus to the more glamorous Russian laboratories, formerly part of the Czar's palace.

ARMY SHOW RETURNS GABLE TO HIS PUBLIC—In semi-retirement since the death of his wife, Clark Gable is seen here with actress Bette Davis before they appeared in a Los Angeles show broadcast exclusively to soldiers in foreign lands. The Eastern refining plant of 550,000 gallons of oil a year to one oil company has converted its war industries unable to convert furnaces to burn coal, releasing their own power plants.

A.F.L. Asks Workers Of India Help

CHICAGO (AP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has addressed an appeal to the workers of India to stand by the United Nations' fight against the Axis.

President William Green said arrangements had been made through the Office of War Information to transmit the message, in the name of "the workers of America," to India by short-wave radio.

EVERYTHING is rosy in the baseball camp of the Victoria Machinery Depot. The shipyarders cinched first place in the ball league and with it the McGavin Cup Wednesday night, after setting the pace for the remainder of the clubs since the season opened. V.M.D. threw off the final challenge of the Navy outfit in grand fashion, plastering a 7 to 0 shutout on the representatives of the senior service. Only squawk of the shipyard boys, Wednesday, was that they didn't receive their cup. They had plans for celebrating the triumph and their plans wouldn't have shortened the tea supply of Manager Pat Steele.

V.M.D. won because they hit the ball. The league leaders tied off on the offerings of southpaw Jack McIntyre in the first inning and never let up until the finish. Manager of the Navy crew might have made it a lot closer by yanking McIntyre in the first inning, as it was evident his stuff was not working. The lefty was fea-ing the shipyarders pretty much of a straight ball all the way.

Navy displayed a distinct weakness at the plate. True, Ronnie Gervais hurled a smart game for the V.M.D., but the sailors helped him out a lot by attempting to hit bad balls. Time after time the sailors laid their bats on pitches that were definitely balls with the result there were a lot of pop-ups and weak roll-outs to the infield. Gervais displayed remarkable control and was working the corners to perfection.

This fellow Ian Lowe, V.M.D. shortstop, is a sweet ball player. In addition to being a dangerous man at the plate he handles his position with the ease and polish of a seasoned campaigner. Lowe has learned the secret of being able to get rid of the ball in a hurry with the result he minimizes the chances of a batter beating out an infield hit to his position.

With 13 overnight entries we wonder just what will happen to the B.C. Futurity Stakes, scheduled to be run at Hastings Park, early this evening. We can imagine that Sam Randall and his group of stewards kept their fingers crossed all night with the hope five of the two-year-old hopefuls would be scratched out before race time. Eight horses is the limit considered safe for the bull ring at Hastings Park. In previous years the futurity has always been run off on the mile strip at Lansdowne Park.

And there is just the possibility the race will be decided at Lansdowne again. If the field remains too large for Hastings they may take the youngsters to the mile track and run the race to determine possession of the $1,500 pot. Of course there would be no mutual handle and that wouldn't agree with Mr. Randle et al. It is not possible to run the race in heats as the horses have all been nominated for a crack at the big purse and are entitled to their chance without having to run in any form of elimination.

DECISION TO ARMSTRONG
OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Henry Armstrong, former holder of three boxing titles, Thursday night won decision over Jackie Burke of Ogden in 10 rounds. Armstrong weighed 143, Burke 145.

Former heavyweight champion Max Baer, who refereed, gave Armstrong six rounds. Burke went down once in the second, three times in the eighth and once in the ninth.

Navy Deadlocks Softball Series

Two softball teams will be on the spot when they play the final game for the city senior A title at Victoria West Park tonight. At Athletic Park Thursday evening, Navy came through with their second straight win to tie the series with Barons at two games each.

The sailors, behind some steady pitching by Syd Stebbings, beat the Barons 9 to 3. Although the losers got to him for 11 hits, three more than the combined offerings of Harper and Leason, the Navy fielders backed him with almost errorless ball and then hit the pill hard in the clutch.

Fielding of the Barons was spotty and their errors helped the Navy cause. Navy took a 4 to 1 lead in the first two innings. Leason replaced Harper in the fourth, and was immediately pounded for five runs. The rest of the game he pitched good ball, holding the sailors scoreless. Barons collected a run in each of the seventh and eighth, but it was too late.

Three other games will be played tonight. Palm Dairies and New Method play at the Victoria West No. 2 diamond. St. Louis College play Northwest Dairy and Adverts meet K. of P. Sidney, at Central Park.

Baseball Teams Wind Up Schedule

With the fourth team in the playoffs still to be determined, the senior ball clubs will wind up their league schedule over the week-end. Tonight at the Athletic Park the Army will tackle the Eagles, starting at 6.30. Victory for the soldiers tonight will move them into the playoffs, while should the Eagles come through the situation will still be up in the air. In that case the Army would have to take the R.C.A.F. Saturday afternoon. This game will start at 2.30. Double loss for the Army would result in a three-way tie for fourth place, forcing a preliminary playoff.

Saturday night Pitzer and Nex and the Navy will play in the final game of the schedule.

Leaping Catch

Catcher Mickey Owen dives toward Brooklyn dugout to nab foul in sixth inning of game with New York at Ebbets Field. Schoolboy Rowe, 8, isn't singing Mammy but preparing to catch the tumbling backstop. Dodgers beat Giants 4 to 0.

Beanball Rule Gets Test

The National League's new rule making managers subject to an automatic fine of $200 for permitting their pitchers to blaze away at a rival's noggins was due for the acid test today when Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves collided in a doubleheader which opens a five-game series.

It will be their first meeting since they spent last Saturday afternoon ducking each other's high inside pitches—an exercise that is good for the legs if executed with speed but bad for the head if it isn't.

That get-together in Boston, which saw the Braves sweep a two-game series from the first place Braves, prompted league president, Ford Frick, to toss the principal responsibility for future "bean balls" squarely in the managers' laps.

Frick fined Manuel Salvo of the Braves $50 and Brooklyn's Whitlow Wyatt $75 for participating in the "duster" duel and warned pitchers that they would be fined in the future along with the managers. It cost Wyatt an extra $25 to throw his bat at Salvo.

"If other pitchers throw at our players," said Brooklyn president, Larry MacPhail, in discussing the new league rule, "we'll give them two for one, and I don't care whether it costs $20 or $400."

MAY NEED BANKROLL
So, with Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers backed by MacPhail's bankroll, it is to be assumed that Professor Casey Stengel of the Braves will have his cheque book handy today in case a few well-chosen pitches stray too near the region reserved for a batter's cranium.

Thursday's postponement was one of four which left the major league card with only three completed contests.

In the only one in the National League, Chicago Cubs ended a four-game losing streak by defeating St. Louis Cardinals 13 to 5 and dropping the second-place Red Birds 8½ games behind the Dodgers.

In the American League, Cleveland Indians came from behind in the ninth inning to edge out Detroit Tigers 3 to 2 for their first victory in their last eight starts.

St. Louis Browns crushed Chicago White Sox 8 to 3, largely through the efforts of Harland Clift who hit a home-run, double and two singles and drove in four runs.

COAST LEAGUE
Los Angeles Angels, leaders of Coast League baseball, apparently have to be nettled slightly before they go to work on an opponent.

Portland, the cellar club, has worried the Angels plenty this week, taking two games and just missing a third win.

Thursday night, the Angels put on the pressure and the result was a 17-hit assault which whitewashed the Beavers, 12 to 0, and made Jim Lynn's three-hit performance look easy.

Barney Olsen, slugging outfielder, accounted for six Los Angeles tallies as he paced batters by pounding out four hits in five attempts.

The Angels move to Seattle tonight for a four-game series. The Rainiers bested the San Francisco Seals, 4 to 2, in a pitching duel with each team getting six hits.

Oakland won the first of three games from Sacramento, 5 to 3, with the winning margin going to the Oaks without a hit in the fifth

Bays-Douglas Tire Take Services After Overtime

Upset Dope In Playoffs To Earn Bye

Who ever said lightning never strikes twice in the same place is crazier than a booked-up mental home. For the second time in three nights the United Services lacrosse team was hit hard and heavy by a thunderbolt that packed too much punch in the final minutes of play. Yes, Gus Q. Phan, Bays-Douglas Tire licked the servicemen, 21 to 19, in overtime at the Sports Centre, Thursday night, and won the cherished bye that automatically puts them in the final.

Beaten 20 to 19 by Oaklands, Tuesday night, Services pulled the same stunt with the Bays in the latest game. They just lost their drive in the overtime session, and were beaten by two goals that would have easily been stretched to five had not their retund but agile goalie, Louis Moro, all but put himself out of joint in a vain attempt to keep them in the game.

SERVICES PLAY OAKS

Services will now play Oaklands in a best three of five series for the right to meet the Bays-Douglas Tire. The first contest will be fought out Saturday night, 8.30, at Dave Nicol's cosy little rough-house up at the Willows Fair grounds.

One of the largest mobs of the season swarmed into Nicol's parlor Thursday night and witnessed a game that had all the lacrosse and butchery of Tuesday's upset session. There was never more than three goals difference between the two squads, and that three-goal gap was only a momentary one in the last quarter. Most of the time they were running neck and neck and right up to the final second of regulation play it was a toss-up for the winner.

In the overtime Ted Menzies' squad seemed to take complete command and after six or seven minutes of the 10 minutes' extra play, the crowd knew it was home free for the Bays.

FERGUSON TWINKLES

Individual star of the night—need we mention it—was the winners' two-way marvel, Arnold Ferguson. Fergy was the backbone of both the Bay attack and defence. He set up plays galore and when the going got tough and a worried Mr. Menzies needed goals to ease an almost apoplectic state of mind, Arnold was in there getting them. He was the highest scorer on the floor, netting seven hump sagers and a couple of assists.

Both goalies were hot, Long shining in the last quarter and Moro in the overtime, despite his team's loss. In the final period Services got in there and gave

A total of 100 points may be scored for neatness, ability, speed, etc.

Barbed Wire Keeps Gandhi's Friends Out

By PRESTON GROVER

POONA, India (AP) — Surrounded by a barbed wire enclosure twice his height, Mohandas K. Gandhi is taking his morning walks and eating his usual scanty meals—or at least that's what the guard officer told me.

I didn't see the little Indian Nationalist leader whose independence movement is causing trouble in India. Gandhi is incommunicado. The barbed wire around the Aga Khan's palace here is not so much to keep Gandhi in as to keep his followers out.

I did get up to the front gate of the palace where Britain's most difficult problem man is housed. Being locked up in the Aga Khan's marble-floored palace isn't exactly like being in the county jailhouse. It's a big four-story building of Oriental confectionary architecture.

The palace has two main apartments on the first floor. Gandhi has one of them. The little leader's own thatched-walled combination office and house would not cover one room of his new quarters.

The enclosure is far enough from the palace to leave a substantial portion of the garden for Gandhi and his associates to exercise in, the guard officer said. Besides Gandhi's wife there are his male secretary, Mahadev Desai, a woman secretary, and Mrs. Sarorini Naidu, poet and only woman member of the All-India Congress Party's central working committee.

Mrs. Naidu, a lively-witted woman about 50 years old, calls Gandhi "Mickey Mouse." When she first pulled that, Gandhi didn't know what she meant. So she got a comic strip to show him.

Gandhi still wears his loin cloth, the officer said, but the climate is so cool here he also wears a shawl.

The palace-prison has huge balconies whence Gandhi can look down on Poona, a town about 75 miles southeast of Bombay. But Poona isn't much to look at. It's a military garrison town with a war-building population of 300,000 to 400,000, and only a small business district.

Big and small riots have occurred every day since Gandhi became Poona's most noted compulsory guest. Troops are stationed everywhere.

Two women were killed while watching a street fight between students and police Thursday. The women were in upstairs windows looking out. Police said their deaths were accidental, the fatal bullets probably ricocheting. "We always shoot low on purpose," the police superintendent said. "Seldom is anybody wounded above the knees."

2 German Prisoners Recaptured

FREDERICTON (CP) — The two German prisoners who escaped from a New Brunswick internment camp Tuesday afternoon have been recaptured. Heinz Wirtz, 22, Nazi merchant seaman, and Gerhard Knoepfel, 21, civilian internee, were discovered within a radius of five miles from the camp by members of the Veterans' Guard participating in the widespread hunt which has been proceeding since Tuesday.

It was indicated by the camp commandant that the pair had not succeeded at any time in getting beyond this area. No details of the capture were made public.

Urges More Care Of Private Cars

The importance of the care of private autos in these days of wartime restrictions was emphasized by Louis Michelin, of Thomas Plimley Co., in a Rotary Club talk Thursday. He told of the importance of the private car in Canada today and said that should all automobiles be taken from the roads, "an awful state of affairs" would exist.

Mr. Michelin recalled the days when a trip to Goldstream by auto entailed a week's preparation and several dozen inner tubes. From early auto styles to the present models, he related how added conveniences have been added to automobiles of today. The cars which manufacturers would make after the war would be identical to the ones made last year, Mr. Michelin said.

He urged drivers to have their cars checked as soon as possible for repairs, as the day was not far off when needed parts and accessories would not be available.

The other speaker in the program made by the vocational committee, was S. J. Heal, who spoke on "Painting and Decorating."

800 Nazi Seamen Here as Prisoners

Canadian Press

Nearly 800 German prisoners of war, all merchant seamen from Axis vessels immobilized in Far Eastern ports after the outbreak of war in 1939, arrived in Canada recently and were whisked to internment camps in central parts of the Dominion.

The men were interned in India, many of them for 2 and 2½ years. As merchant seamen they were considered only enemy aliens. Then, a change was made in their status, and they were sent to Canada as prisoners of war.

Guards on the troopship that brought the prisoners to this country said they were well-behaved and gave no trouble. However, every precaution was taken to see they did behave, since if they broke loose and overpowered the guards they would have been able to take over and operate the ship.

KEPT CLOSE WATCH

"There were engineers, deck hands and men to work anything on the ship," one guard said. "If they ever got out, they would have taken the boat to Germany or any place. We felt as though we were sitting on a powder-keg, and you can bet we watched those birds mighty close."

The prisoners ranged in age from teen-aged boys, probably apprentices or mess boys, up to tough, brine-soaked old mariners who had devoted a lifetime to the sea.

Most seemed fairly contented with their lot, although some displayed typical German sullenness. For the majority it was probably a welcome change after months spent basking in Indian heat.

The Axis ships were seized at different eastern ports, where they had been plying their trade, unmindful of the approach of war. Some were at Indian and Burmese ports, in Singapore, the

Netherlands East Indies and Australia

Some of the prisoners were from ships seized at Massaua in Eritrea, when the British occupied that former Italian colony. All were taken to India for internment except those seized in the Netherlands possessions. These latter were sent to camps on the island of Sumatra, and then were removed when the tide of Japanese invasion rolled near.

Services Escape Bargain Trip Ban

OTTAWA (CP)—Through trip travel from eastern Canada by navy, army and air force men, who are entitled to special rates, is not affected by the new ban on bargain rail rates in Canada, but more civilian restrictions may be enforced.

"Civilian travel is on the increase," said Hon. C. D. Howe, acting transport minister. "The traffic now is so heavy that unless voluntary curtailment of conventions and other unnecessary travel proves a sufficient answer, further restrictions may become necessary so that the war program may not be hindered."

Pipers' Reception For Lt. Col. Bapty

With the co-operation of Lt. Col. J. Macgregor, V.C., and the pipes and drums of the 2nd Bn. The Canadian Scottish, the Pipers' Society will hold a reception for Lt. Col. W. Bapty, late D.C. 2nd Bn. The Canadian Scottish regiment, Saturday in the Auditorium of the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion, commencing at 8 p.m.

Col. Bapty will return east immediately after the reception. In one war plant chips and metal shavings from machines are collected in a car with a perforated false bottom, through which a considerable quantity of reclaimable oil drains off the metal.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Govt. Okays This Kind of Hoarding

A Johns-Manville man came up to your reporter the other day with a grin on his face and said: "Here's something to put in the papers—that's ONE thing people can board and still be patriotic, and that's heat!" Well, he's right. Our government is urging home owners to do everything possible to prevent waste of valuable fuel next winter. The fact is, the federal government's National Research Council and National Housing Administration have jointly published a new booklet that gives worthwhile advice and real practical help along these very lines. The book is titled, "House Insulation in Relation to Canada's War Effort," and among other things says, "A citizen, in insulating his house, is not only helping himself but performing a patriotic duty."

Johns-Manville, pioneers of Rock Wool Home Insulation, would like to present you with a free copy of this government booklet. Just call your J-M dealer, V.I. Hardwood Floor Company, 701 Johnson Street, G 7314.

Hughes Seniors' Champ, Defeating Thomas 1 Up

E. H. Hughes, Spokane, Wash., is the new champion of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association. In today's 18-hole final at Colwood he defeated Frank Thomas, Victoria, 1 up, after one of the keenest finals in the 20-year history of the tournament.

Never more than one hole separated the pair. Thomas was up several times but was unable to overcome a faulty putter. On the last two greens Thomas three-putted to lose the match. Although the scoring of the pair was not good some first-class golf was witnessed.

Thomas first took the lead on the eighth only to have Hughes win the next two holes, leaving the Victorian 1 down at the 10th. The match was all square again at the 12th and Thomas captured the trick 13th to again assume the lead. Hughes squared matters at the 15th. Thomas looked like he was headed for the championship by winning the 16th, but he slipped badly on the next two greens, allowing his opponent to square the match on the 17th and win on the final carpet.

Hughes succeeds Dr. J. P. Loudon, Yakima, as champion. J. P. Fell, Vancouver, won the class A championship, defeating Rev. S. Ryall, 2 up.

Class B honors went to W. A. Graeper, Portland, by his 1 up triumph over J. McCulloch, Comox.

Class C title was captured by C. H. Raleigh, Tacoma, who defeated F. C. Neal, also of Tacoma, 2 and 1.

Class D championship went to R. M. Dooley, Portland, who defeated C. B. Duffy, Portland, 1 up.

Old Tax Smokes Still at Old Price

"Watch for the red letters on your packets of cigarettes and pipe tobaccos; there is 4c excise tax on the large package and 2c excise tax on the 10c package," Wartime Prices and Trade Board today warned. "If not so marked you should not be asked to pay tax."

Some dealers are reported adding the new excise tax on cigarettes to old stock, thus making an unauthorized profit because the extra impost is not going to the government.

Packets of cigarettes on which the manufacturers have paid the new excise have the amount of the tax stamped in red on the grey label.

In the case of a large packet, the words "4c excise tax" are surcharged in red on the grey sticker. This new excise is a direct levy on the public to help pay for the war. If the red notice is not on the packet the buyer is entitled to get his smokes at the old, lower figure.

Outer Wharf Grocery Robbed of $209.49

A thief or thieves who broke into the Outer Wharf Grocery, 53 Simcoe Street, overnight, escaped with $209.49, according to a police report today.

The proprietor of the store Leslie Wilby, phoned the police at 7.40 this morning, reporting the theft. Detectives David Donaldson and W. Richards found the money had been taken from the safe and till. Entrance was gained by forcing the rear door of the storeroom and then cutting a panel out of the door leading to the main part of the store.

The annual C.C.F. basket picnic will be held Sunday at the Wilby's Beach.

Commando Love Interest

Anna Lee, blonde English actress, and Paul Muni, screen star, lean on the rustic gate of the location set in one of the sequences of "The Commandos Come at Dawn," now being filmed here. Miss Lee, who arrived from Hollywood Monday, has put in a busy week, constantly appearing before the camera and sound equipment, mostly at the Norwegian village on Saanich Inlet. Miss Lee, as the British admiral's daughter who falls in love with Erik Torsen (Paul Muni), Norwegian patriot hunted by the Nazi occupation forces, appears in the uniform of a British Wren.

Tea Rationing Produces Series of New Problems

"Black gold dust," tea's new designation since rationing made the beverage almost as desirable as the precious metal has already become the object of thieves according to reports received from various parts of the province.

While no theft of coupons has been reported here, 325 pounds of tea were stolen in Vancouver from the premises of a wholesaler, Martin and Robinson, and in New Westminster, a private household was looted of its month's supply of tea and sugar.

The larger theft hints strongly at the establishment of a black market for tea in this province, though officials of the food rationing division of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board here say they have received no complaints in this respect.

Ways to beat the ration order are being tried out, generally without success. The biggest leak so far has been across the international border.

BORDER LEAK

The U.S. portion of Boundary Bay has been popular since gasoline rationing went into effect but since tea and coffee were rationed its attraction for Canadians has increased tenfold. Visitors from the Canadian side have flocked over every weekend since the rationing order took effect, stocking up with large quantities of tea, sugar and coffee.

Prices for these commodities are considerably higher in the U.S. than in Canada but the goods are not rationed and the extra outlay has proved no deterrent.

One snag run into by the tea "smugglers" is the order of the Foreign Exchange Control Board which limits the amount of currency which may be taken out of the country. Apparently visitors to Boundary Bay have found some way to overcome this.

OUTDATES COUPONS

Meanwhile citizens who are observing the rationing orders faithfully are informed by Wartime Prices Board officials that emergency ration coupons A, B, C, D and E on their temporary ration cards will be useless after Sept. 7 when the permanent ration books are issued.

One official said: "If any person has A, B, C, D and E coupons still in his possession when the new ration books are issued it shows he has coupons for more tea and sugar than he needs and should turn the coupons back to the board."

Another word of advice to tea purchasers is not to pay more for tea by the ounce than they do by the pound. That is to say that if a storekeeper sells an ounce of tea for 10 cents it must be tea that normally sold for $1.60 a pound. Reports have been received that some stores are charging 10 cents for an ounce of tea worth 90 cents a pound. The spread or "breakage" in fractional cents for splitting up pounds of tea into rationable ounces must not exceed 4 cents per pound.

Wartime Prices officials urge householders to report instances of these infractions to the board. Some small packages of tea, it should be noted, are not included in these recommendations since they weigh slightly more than an ounce and have always sold at 10 cents.

No Confirmation Of Housing Plan

Mayor Andrew McGavin said today he had no confirmation of the statement of H. S. Hamill, V.M.D. general manager, that Wartime Housing Ltd. would proceed with the construction of 100 houses in the James Bay area for V.M.D. workmen.

The following statement was issued by the mayor: "I have read the local press reports attributing to H. S. Hamill, manager of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., a statement before the Richards Shipyard Commission on Aug. 12 that R. W. Mayhew, M.P., had informed him earlier in the day that he had received a communication from J. M. Piggott, president of Wartime Housing Ltd., stating that actual work on the company's housing project in the James Bay district would start in the near future."

"I am unable, however, to officially confirm that this housing work will proceed. Three weeks and four days have passed since the City Council, after holding special sessions to complete the covering by-law as soon as possible, had all necessary documents executed on behalf of the city and dispatched to Wartime Housing Ltd. in Ottawa, by air mail, and the city is still without a reply."

Mr. Brownlow was born in Toronto and had been a resident of Victoria and district for the past 20 years. He was head telegraphist at Dawson City, Yukon, for the Dominion Government at one time, going there in 1898 and remaining for 25 years. He is survived by several relatives in eastern Canada. The remains are resting at McCall Bros' Funeral Chapel, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

DITTON — Asa Ditton, 828 Darwin Avenue, 72, died Thursday at the Jubilee Hospital. Mr. Ditton was born in Indiana, and had been a resident of this city for 44 years. The remains are at Sands Mortuary Ltd. pending funeral arrangement, which will be announced later.

Investigating Fuel Situation

Deputy Fuel and Wood Administrator D. Roy Cameron of Ottawa arrived in Victoria today from Vancouver to investigate conditions of price and supply in the wood fuel and sawdust business here.

He spent the morning with fuel producers and this afternoon was conferring with distributors.

It is believed special attention will be given by the Ottawa official, together with Victoria officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, to the sawdust situation.

In Vancouver Thursday Mr. Cameron received a recommendation of that district to establish a year-round price ceiling of $5 a unit. Ceiling prices at present range seasonally from $4 a unit for 85 per cent fir sawdust in May and June to $4.50 in July and August, and $5 for the other eight months of the year.

Meanwhile, deliveries of sawdust and wood fuel in the Vancouver district were temporarily restricted by Ottawa, the restriction being countermanded next day. No such restrictions were considered for the Victoria area, the view at Ottawa being

Whiskers to Order Ray Collins Good At Disguise

Bewhiskered, unkempt and with a hunted look in his eye, Ray Collins slouched up to the Empress registration desk this morning, inquired about his mail.

The room clerk looked at him searchingly with: "What name, please?"

"Collins, Ray Collins," he replied. "I'm with the Lester Cowan company."

"Oh, it's you, Mr. Collins," the clerk responded with a grin. "I didn't recognize you. When I booked you in, you were clean-shaven; now you have a beard."

"Well, if it's that good, it must be some disguise; I am flattered," replied Collins.

IN BERGESON'S ROLE

The bristly hair he was packing around on his chin was sandy in color and Ray had spent an hour before breakfast carefully placing it there with theatrical fixings for the role of Bergeson he was to play today on the set of "The Commandos Come at Dawn."

Bergeson is the owner of a store selling precision instruments on the straggling Norwegian village street. He talks too much and the Nazis throw him into a concentration camp. Ray Collins is a character actor who, perhaps, is better known over the radio than on the screen. He has been 13 years in radio and has been with Orson Welles in all his airwave presentations.

Herb Stinson, assistant to Lester Cowan and in charge of publicity for "The Commandos Come at Dawn," left Victoria this afternoon for a visit to Seattle. He has his department well organized by this time and feels he can now take time off for a little relaxation. He will be back in town, however, by the time Lester Cowan returns from Hollywood.

LLOYD-GEORGE RELATIVE

Among the local "extras" appearing in the film being produced here is Mrs. Eluned McMillan, a granddaughter of Rt. Hon. Lloyd-George, former Prime Minister of Great Britain. Before her marriage to an officer of Canada's armed forces she was Miss Carey-Evans.

Mrs. McMillan, slim, pretty and brown-haired, while on the set as one of the village gossips, caught the eye of Director John Farrow and further work in Hollywood was indicated. Mrs. McMillan, however, has no screen ambitions.

Extra Sale Squeeze Illegal, Says Board

If a customer walks into a store and says: "I want to buy a dress," and the storekeeper replies, "I can't sell you a dress unless you buy a hat," this is a breach of the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The Board says similar examples are found in grocery stores which refuse to sell bacon unless you also buy eggs, or sporting goods stores which refuse to sell tennis balls unless you buy a racket or a mashie.

Complaints along these lines are reaching the prices board. Under Order-in-Council P.C. 8528 which defines the powers of the board, there is a clause which states that no person may impose that the situation was not so serious here.

Mr. Cameron could not say how long his visit in this city would last.

Harry Dobie Here Again With Seniors

Over from Vancouver this week for the seniors' golf tournament, Mr. Harry Dobie, a former Victorian, owner of the Victoria Chemical Company, is greeting old friends.

Now retired, Mr. Dobie makes golf his hobby, and looks forward each year to attending the tournament because he knows so many of the entrants. As far as golf goes he describes this visit as "not too successful," having smashed his driver on the open "no day. In previous years he has won prizes in different flights several times.

Today he recalled that during the last war the Victoria Chemical Company, which operated near Ribbet's docks, supplied sulphuric and nitric acids to the explosives plant at James Island. From these acids 37,000,000 pounds of TNT were shipped to the Allies, many of the consignments going to Russia.

The Victoria Chemical Company was afterwards absorbed by Canadian Explosives Limited, which in turn were taken over by the C.I.L. For the past 22 years Mr. Dobie has been living in Vancouver, and before retiring, several years ago, was departmental sales manager for C.T.I.

Before that his home was on Linden Avenue at Richardson, and his two daughters, Helen and Jean, and his son, William, attended school in Victoria.

Jean is now the wife of Ted Allan, T.C.A. pilot, son of George Allan, former head of the Hudson's Bay Co. for Canada. They make their home in Toronto.

Helen, who attended St. George's School here, is married to Harry Abbott, Vancouver, son of the late J. L. G. Abbott, C.P.R. attorney.

William, a captain in the merchant marine when war broke out, is now an R.C.N.V.R. lieutenant in charge of a corvette, stationed at St. John's, Newfoundland. He is on convoy duty in the Atlantic and prior to going to the east coast was stationed at Esquimalt. He was with the Canadian Navy at Esquimalt until a year ago.

F.D.R. Reaffirms Charter Ideals

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the first anniversary of the signing of the Atlantic Charter, President Roosevelt reaffirmed today his faith in its eight cardinal principles as the basis for a better and happier world "when victory comes."

The President and Prime Minister Churchill penned their names on the historic declaration at a secret meeting at sea one year ago today, when the United States still watched the war from the sidelines. Since then, all the United Nations have accepted its enunciation of post-war aims as a foundation upon which a permanent peace must rest.

"When victory comes," Mr. Roosevelt said in a message to Mr. Churchill today, "we shall stand shoulder to shoulder in seeking to nourish the great ideals for which we fight. It is a worthwhile battle. It will be so recognized through all the ages, even amid the unfortunate peoples who follow false gods today."

"We reaffirm our principles. They will bring us to a happier world."

A year ago, he recalled, nations fighting for their existence against a "common, barbaric foe" were united or small groups. Now these nations and groups of nations in all the continents, he said, have formed a great union of humanity, dedicated to realization of the program of purposes and principles of the Atlantic Charter, through a victory over common enemies.

Need Sacrifices To Win Victory

SASKATOON (CP)—Canadians must invest $1,200,000,000 in war bonds within the next 12 months so that this goal will not be realized "unless we as individual citizens of a nation fighting for our life understand better than we do today the full and awful significance of the issues which are at stake," G. H. Lash, Ottawa, director of public information, said today.

"Why do I say that we shall fail to raise this loan unless we change our attitude?" Mr. Lash asked in an address prepared for the 23rd annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

"Within the past two weeks I have talked to nearly 100 people about the forthcoming loan and what is expected of them."

"Without exception . . . they have said to me, they cannot do it. They are making all the sacrifices they can possibly make already."

"Sacrifices? Do not let us prostitute the symbolism and the beauty of that word."

"Who are we, in this lush and lavish land to prate of sacrifice because we may have to go without a new coat this winter; give up membership in a club or two; eat less expensive meals; cut down on our liquor; humble our pride by taking in boarders; labor a little harder ourselves to save acquiring extra help; if these things be sacrifice, then what is this hallowed thing that others are doing upon the battlefronts of the world where our fight is being fought so that this land may remain unspoiled?"

Heir to Fortune Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Death Thursday ended the career of John Rual Dodge, 43-year-old son of a multi-millionaire automobile manufacturer, less than 20 hours after he was found by police in the home of a friend. The full story of a head injury that caused his death may never be known.

Receiving hospital officials said that a post-mortem examination would be performed on his body.

Dodge suffered a head injury after he was taken into custody by police Wednesday morning and never regained consciousness. With him when he died were a nurse and a physician. His widow, Mrs. Dora Dodge, had left the hospital briefly and returned a few minutes after his death. She had to be assisted from the death room.

WED SCHOOLMATE

Dodge made the headlines first in 1918 when he ran away to marry Marie O'Connor, a former schoolmate. He was 21 at the time.

For this, apparently, he was cut off in the will of his father, John F. Dodge, with $150 a month for life. Dodge's father died in 1920.

Young Dodge tried to break the will, finally accepting a $1,700,000 settlement from other heirs.

Dodge was divorced by his first wife in 1933 on a charge of desertion and a few weeks later married Dora Kline.

Dodge's death came a few hours after Prosecutor William E. Dowling of Wayne County said he was informed that a quarrel in which Dodge struck his wife while another woman looked on, preceded Dodge's arrest Wednesday morning and his subsequent collapse in a police station.

Lucky Escape As Eagle Sank

By ARTHUR THORPE

GIBRALTAR (CP)—I am a lucky man to be alive.

Clinging to a cork float with six sailors, one of whom had a broken leg, and with waves capped by thick oil scum washing over us, I saw the Eagle sink in the western Mediterranean with a thunderous rumbling noise after she was struck by four torpedoes.

I was in an anteroom with three officers soon after 1 p.m. when two explosions shook me out of my chair. We knew what they meant and leaped to the door. As we opened it two more violent explosions rocked the aircraft carrier.

We reached the quarterdeck, hauling ourselves up the steeply sloping deck to the starboard side which was highest from the water. Six-inch shells weighing 100 pounds tore loose from their brackets and bobbed down the deck which by then tilted like a cliff. Sailors saw them coming and flung themselves into the water to escape injury.

Several sailors clambered toward us. They fastened a stout rope to the deck and slithered down it into the thick oil which welled out from under the ship. I slid down, too, and went under the waves. When I rose, to the surface I realized with horror that I had not got enough air in my lifebelt. My head was barely above the water.

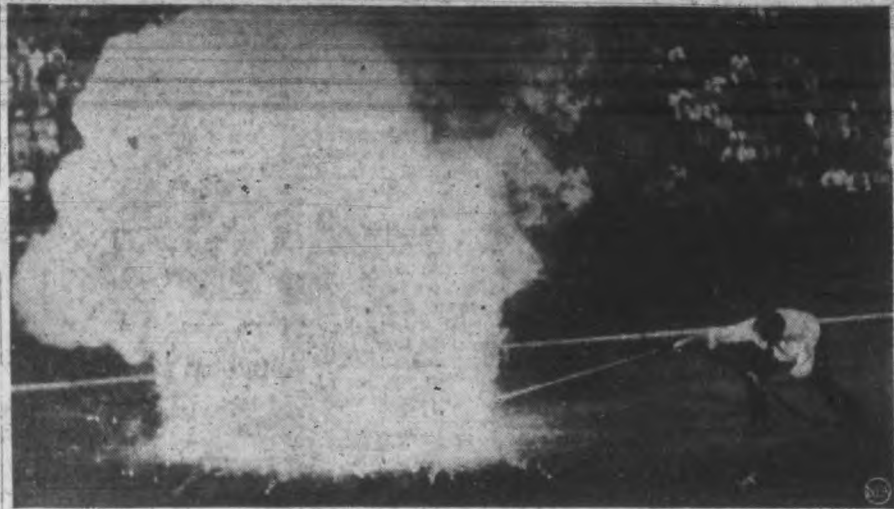

The Eagle, 200 yards away by this time, was lying on her side with men still swarming like ants against her great bulk as they slid down into the sea.

I felt a sudden shock at the base of my spine. It was a depth charge. Six or seven times this curious shock from below the water shook us.

Then came a mighty rumbling, as the sea poured into the Eagle, forcing out the air. Water thrashed above her in a fury of white foam, then subsided.

A destroyer picked us up a few minutes later.

JET DEFEATS SPRAY AS FIRE BOMB QUENCHER—A controversy as well as a fire bomb is extinguished as Inspector Charles Johnson, New York Fire Department, plays a jet of water on a magnesium bomb during a demonstration and test at Randall's Island, New York City. Sinkings Total 422

By the Associated Press

Destruction of two small Cuban merchantmen by enemy submarines in the Gulf of Mexico was announced yesterday by the Cuban navy general staff, while Brazilian sources disclosed that cruisers may have joined the hunt for an Axis surface raider following recent attacks on Allied shipping in the South Atlantic.

Reports from Rio de Janeiro indicated the cruisers may have plans to supplement the search which was said to be under way following radioed reports last Monday that at least two United Nations vessels, about 1,000 miles east of Rio de Janeiro, had been attacked by a marauding surface craft.

The Cuban navy staff reported the ships sunk in the Gulf were the 1,655-ton Santiago de Cuba and the 1,025-ton Manzanillo, and that five crewmen were known dead and 26 others missing. All but three of the 27 seamen who were rescued were landed at Key West, Fla., the navy said.

The latest U-boat victims boosted to 422 the Associated Press count of announced sinkings in the western Atlantic since the United States' entry into the war.

Rest Periods Seen Vital For Busy War Workers

By MARJORIE VAN DE WATER

WASHINGTON—Rest periods are vital to war production. This is stressed by the War Department, Navy Department, War Manpower Commission, War Production Board and four other government agencies in recommendations to war contractors.

North America is at war and the ordinary leisurely summer-time vacations are naturally out for the duration just as touring and sightseeing are out.

There can be no slackening of production, no relaxing of speed, no shutdown of any department that is needed in war production.

But rest periods are important for each war worker. They should be carefully planned over the whole year, or the longest possible period. In this way fresh, rested reinforcements are constantly being brought into service on the production front.

REST AT LUNCH

Each day should have its rest periods. A 30-minute period for lunch is recommended by the government departments. In occupations that involve contact with poisonous substances, workers must also be allowed time to wash up before lunch.

Industrial psychologists have found that the amount of rest and the frequency of the periods required for peak efficiency depends a great deal on the type of work being done. It should be carefully planned for each sort of job in a plant. In some work a compulsory 10-minute rest interval every two hours is best. In other types of work, it may be best to allow each individual to select his own time to take such a short rest period when he feels fatigued.

"One scheduled day of rest for the individual, approximately every seven, should be a universal and invariable rule," declared the psychologists.

British medical officers found that soldiers who have to make split-second judgments and keep up the fire of enthusiasm for their vital work must be forced to take rest periods—not just to avoid crack-up, but to stay in top form vigorous spirit.

The announcement of policy of the U.S. government officials emphasizes that the wise conservation of human resources and the protection of working efficiency and morale is equally vital on the home front.

clares the statement of the government officials.

This does not mean any shutdown on Sunday. Plants and tools should be kept busy all around the clock and all around the calendar.

But for the individual, a seven-day week is injurious to health, to production, and to morale, the statement emphasizes. Only in extreme emergencies should either workers or supervisors go without the weekly day of rest. Then it must be only for a limited time.

Psychologists would point out this is even more important for the executive who does not need to punch a time clock than it is for the routine worker.

DISASTROUS

The psychological effects of fatigue are insidious and treacherous. Enthusiasm for the war program and eagerness to do the job may keep an executive at his desk long hours and he may skip his weekly game of golf and his Sunday off. For a while, that speeds the work. But after a while it becomes a little more difficult for him to make quick and sure decisions. Even more disastrous, against his will a sort of staleness may creep into his thinking. No longer is he eager to be at the job. No longer is he so sure of success.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—There was a bullish rift in the stock market clouds today as the war news turned a shade better and hopes for more lenient corporate taxes broadened.

Airrafts led the upswing after a hesitant opening and, with dealings lively for a while, the rising trend spread to other departments plus marks of fractions to around two points were well distributed in the final hour. New highs for the year or longer were plentiful.

Transfers for the full proceedings, aided by sizable blocks of low-priced issues, approximately 400,000 shares, largest turnover since July 22.

Among stocks getting into new peak territory for 1942—some eventually slipped—were U.S. Rubber preferred, Pan American Airways, Ohio Oil, Hiram Walker, 20th Century-Fox, Warner Bros. Co., General Electric and United Aircraft.

Canadian issues were mixed.

Hiram Walker gained 1 1/2, Distillers Sagram 1/2 and International Nickel 3/4. Lake Shore Mines lost 1/4, while Canadian Pacific was unchanged.

Dorothy Dix: Confessing Indiscretions Usually Causes Heartache

Dear Miss Dix: I am a modern young man who believes that solving wild oats should not be looked upon too harshly. I fell deeply in love with a fine girl but shortly after becoming engaged, over my protest, she confessed to having once slipped off the straight and narrow path. I comforted her, telling her her one mistake did not matter beside the many I had made. Yet her confession, although it did not kill my love for her, deepened romance, wounded my pride and left me with a strong desire for revenge upon the man, and I feel that the knowledge of this affair will always remain a scar on our marriage.

Through your columns you can save a lot of unhappiness if you will caution young people not to mention their past mistakes. Confession may be an indication of honesty, but it results in much harm and little good.

DISILLUSIONED
YOUNG MAN.

Answer: Many people believe that before marriage a man and woman should confess all their sins and sinlets to each other and tell all their faults and blunders. They think this is fair play and wiping off the slate. Perhaps this is the honest thing to do, but certainly it is the tragic thing to do, for all that it accomplishes is to share one's own shame with another, to smear love, to kill what is best and sweetest in marriage, and to give a husband and wife food for unending suspicion and jealousy.

If a man and woman have committed any wrong in their past lives that would reach out and shatter their new lives, if they have any disease, or if any hereditary weakness is in their families that might affect their children, then they are in honor bound to confess it to those whom they are asking to marry them. But certainly harm rather than good comes of their telling their future husbands and wives of all their mistakes and blunders.

I get many letters from men on this subject. They invariably express regret that their wives told them the thing they would never have wanted to know. They know their wives are good and true; they know their wives have worked for them and sacrificed for them and given them every proof of devotion, and they've been happy and contented until the wife was foolish enough, in a moment of repentance, to wreck her home by confessing to her husband some episode of her past that destroys his faith in her.

ROMANCE IS SPOILED

A man may forgive, but he never forgets. The memory of what his wife has done is a fire of jealousy that never ceases to burn in his heart. He never quite trusts her again. His romance is spoiled, his alabaster box is broken, and all to no purpose. For what's done is done and never can be changed. Only there is unhappiness and distrust where there was happiness and faith before.

If there were no other reason in the world for women to remain chaste, it would be found in this—that they need never know the heartbreaking struggle between love and conscience, of trying to decide whether to tell the men to whom they are engaged of their past lives, or to keep silent and forever hide a secret they live in fear of being found out.

SHE'S NOT REALLY IN LOVE

Dear Miss Dix: I am employed as a secretary and live at home; so I use my salary as spending money. I'm engaged to a young man who works, but does not have a permanent job. We plan to marry. However, here is the problem: I want to wait two or three years, as it seems to me that marriage ties one down so and consists mostly of worrying over money and bills, as well as losing out on a lot of good times. I also want to get myself a fur coat, a typewriter, a good wrist watch, an automobile, a lifetime fountain pen, a bicycle, an accordion and an electric organ. Also I want to take piano and dancing lessons and I know if I don't get these things before marriage I'll never get them afterward.

My boy friend insists on getting married as soon as he gets a steady job with a fairly good salary. He says that he also wants a lot of things, too, but that compared to me they don't mean anything, and he's willing to give them up to get me. He says I've got to choose between him and the things I want. Which do you think I'd better take?

M. N.

Answer: Well, I think you'd better take the things just now, because you are evidently not really in love with the young man if you'd rather have a fur coat and a bicycle than him, and dread getting married because it will cut off your good times.

When you fall really, genuinely, head over heels in love, you'd rather have your sweetheart's arms around you than the finest sable; and doing your own cooking in a two-by-four apartment will seem more thrilling to you than going to the swankiest night-club.

But if you wait to marry until you have everything you want, you'll never get married because your craving for luxuries grows on what it feeds on. Nobody ever has everything he or she wants.

ATTRACTIVENESS BRINGS MISERY

Dear Miss Dix: I have the misfortune of being attractive. This makes the mothers get out their guns to protect their precious sons from me. It's, "Dear, she's much too attractive. You'd have your hands full with her." Or, "She's an expensive little thing." Or, "Really, a clothes horse," all because I can put on a $6.95 dress that I wear to business and on dates too, and look like a million dollars in it. Of course, after a barrage of this sort of propaganda, sonny crawls safely back to mamma, and I lose out. I positively envy the girls who are not attractive enough to attract mamma's attention. They have a chance to get in their work. What can I do?

ANNOUNCED.

Answer: Well, of course you could make yourself look less attractive by adopting an unbecoming hair-do or wearing clothes that brought out your ugly points instead of emphasizing your good ones, but I do not recommend such a drastic procedure. No man is worth it. Anyway, I should think that being so beautiful that you had all the mother's

World's Largest Grain Crop is U.S. Corn

Yesterday we were speaking about the corn and wheat crops of the United States and Canada. Added together, they amounted last year to about 3,950,000,000 bushels. That is almost enough to give two bushels of grain to every man, woman and child on earth.

Of that amount, more than two-thirds was made up of corn. The corn crop of the United States is the largest grain crop raised by any nation in the world.

Only about one-fifth of the corn crop is used as food for human beings. The rest is fed to livestock.

The one-fifth used for human food is extremely important. It goes into millions of cans of corn flakes; also into popcorn and corn meal. Corn starch and corn syrup are other food products.

Every part of the corn plant has value of one kind or another. The cobs can be turned into a pulp for stuffing mattresses. Another use of the cobs is for fuel. Three tons of cobs produce about as much heat as one ton of hard wood. The leaves and stalks supply fodder for livestock.

A high-grade paper is obtained from the pith of corn stalks. The pith also plays a part in making smokeless powder.

Corn, or maize, is a product of the New World, but it has been planted in every continent. Southern and central Europe grow a great deal of it, and it is a common crop in the rich valley of the Nile River. Large corn crops are raised in eastern and western ends of Australia, and in valleys of Burma and northeastern India. We do not know where American Indians first raised corn, scared of you would be all the consolation you need.

There's a penalty for everything desirable in life, and undoubtedly that for beauty is that it makes men afraid of its possessor. It seems so wonderful, so glorious, so marvelous that it makes the ordinary man feel he can only look up to it and adore it from a distance. He feels that he could never have it for his own, or ask it to share his humble lot. So while he worships at the shrine of beauty he generally marries the homely girl who has no looks to boast of and whom his mother never suspected of having her eye on him.

Transit Controller

War Workers Will Get Tires

S. Sigmundson, regional director of transit control for B.C., who Thursday attended a committee meeting here of the Richards Commission investigating conditions in B.C. shipyards, said transit control was prepared to do everything possible to allow tires for the automobiles of war workers who have no other way of getting to their jobs.

The committee met at the B.C. Electric office. Representatives included those of the street railway company, Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Blue Line Taxi and Transit Co., managements of V.M.D. and Yarrows Ltd. and union officers.

"There is no problem here that cannot be solved with a little judicious application," Mr. Sigmundson said. "All present were satisfied at the conclusion of the meeting that the problems presented could be taken care of."

Mr. Sigmundson said transit control, after having completed a survey of transportation matters in Greater Vancouver, will conduct a similar survey in Victoria. He said leaflets would be circulated among shipyard workers asking them to map out how and when he goes to work and his gasoline category, if he has one.

MAP EXTRA SERVICE

When these leaflets have been returned transit control will have a comprehensive picture of conditions and will be in a position to determine the needs and hours of additional transport services in Greater Victoria, Mr. Sigmundson said.

Representatives of transit companies assured their companies were prepared to take care of all working men requiring public transportation as soon as they were given an intelligent picture of the whole situation.

Make Shut Out Heavy Favorite

SARATOGA, N.Y. (AP)—Recent developments indicate that Mrs. Payne Whitney has Saturday's ancient Travers Stakes already wrapped up and stowed away, even if old man weather should make a shut-in of Shut Out.

Until a few days ago, all the talk here was about whether the blazing speed of William Woodward's Apache could prove the undoing of the champion three-year-old, Shut Out, in the United States' oldest, stake, or whether Col. Ed. Bradley's colt, Bless Me, might upset all of them in the mile and a quarter classic.

But, since then, Apache came up with a small crack in his hoof, and advices are that he will be out until the fall.

DON'T LIKE MUD

That mishap apparently left the Travers a cinch for Shut Out, unless it comes up mud. Equipoise's best son isn't supposed to like the goo, and might even pass up the Travers altogether in the event the footing is bad.

But in that case, Mrs. Whitney can reach into the Greenree barn for Buckskin, who just toyed with two so-so rivals over a wet track Tuesday.

So it looks like Greentree against Bless Me, who, many believe, would have beaten a then-powerful Alsab in last fall's Walden at Pimlico only for bad racing luck. The son of Sickle Saranac Handicap by a wide margin, although he appeared somewhat tired at the end of that mile in 1:37 1/5, under 116 pounds. But he had been lightly campaigned since his underpinning went shaky after the Walden, and may just be coming to himself again.

All Single Men To Be Canned

SEATTLE (AP)—Col. Walter DeLong, state director of the selective service, declared Thursday that every single man between 20 and 45 in the State of Washington, both with and without dependents, would be inducted into the army within 60 days unless they are in deferred classifications, such as war production or agriculture.

He asserted flatly also that within six months every married man without children will be called, except in cases of deferred classifications.

MAJOR HAROLD BROWN

League to Save Scenic Timber Formed in B.C.

Another step in efforts to prevent the logging of scenic Strathcona Park and Buttle Lake was taken at a meeting under Kenneth Drury at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon when a Victoria branch of the B.C. Natural Resources Conservation League was organized.

H. E. Harris, Long Beach, Cal., newspaper publisher, spoke, representing W. J. Reid, president of the Hancock Oil Co. in California, who has for 20 years spent his vacation at Buttle Lake. Mr. Reid thinks that he owes this part of the country something for the times he has spent here, and is sponsoring and financing this drive to save the timbered lands now threatened with destruction by logging companies.

ELECT OFFICERS

Members of the newly-formed organization include Major Harold Brown, president; Harold Husband, vice-president; Norman Foster, secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Drury and J. L. Tait, publicity directors; William Clark and J. V. Johnson, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

President of the B.C. board is Frank J. Burd, Vancouver. Hon. H. H. Stevens is acting president.

Harold Husband and Major Harold Brown were also named the two vice-presidents, to represent Victoria on the B.C. board at Vancouver. Ten vice-presidents will be included in the league in B.C. Already branches have been established in Nanaimo, Courtenay, Port Alberni and Cameron Lake on Vancouver Island.

They'll Do It Every Time

The league is concerned with the conservation of natural resources of the province and will apply its efforts to the Strathcona Park situation, it being the most immediate problem.

OFFICIALS INTERESTED

In speaking of the work of the league, Mr. Harris said he had talked with Hon. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, and forestry officials, and that they were all interested in the activities of the league.

Many hundreds of letters, he said, have been received from people in Victoria, other points of British Columbia and even from United States citizens who had spent time on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Tait remarked that the areas under discussion were of prime interest to people of Vancouver Island, especially as a means of tourist attraction, and added that the trees could never be replaced in the natural beauty in which they are now situated.

J. V. Johnson said if logging operations were allowed to destroy this scenic area there would soon be no tourist attraction there, nor would there be any timber capital if they were cut.

"We would lose all ways in the end," he added.

Mr. Harris spoke to directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting which followed. He was introduced by Mr. Johnson and told of his mission here. He explained the object of the B.C. Conservation League, and what it hoped to accomplish.

Zivic Blasts Young

Montgomery Wins

NEW YORK (AP)—With his eye on a return bout at the welterweight championship he once held, Fritz Zivic gashed Garvey Young's face into a bloody mess Thursday night and stopped the southpaw marine after six completed rounds. Zivic weighed 148, Young 146.

Scoring chiefly with a straight right hand as he easily solved Young's unorthodox left-hand style, Fritz Zivic had the marine's right eye cut as early as the third round and felled him for a one-count in the fifth. The fight ended when the state athletic commission physician, Dr. William Walker, decided at the end of the sixth, that Young's right eye was cut too badly to permit him to continue.

As far as it went, Fritz Zivic was 'way out in front. Of the six completed rounds, the Pittsburgher won five. Young's only edge came in the third, when he scored with lefts to the mid-section and a couple of short rights to the face.

Decide Hockey's Fate

Expect 'Go Ahead'

CHICAGO (AP)—The fate of professional hockey, involving National League play in the United States and Canada for the 1942-43 season, may be decided in Toronto a week from today.

Leaders expect to get the "go ahead" signal.

Representatives of the vast amateur hockey organization of Canada will meet with Canadian government officials and learn the position Ottawa will take. Tied up with the decision is the fate of the sport in the United States.

Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, president of the International Hockey Association, in Chicago on a speech-making tour for his government, expressed his personal belief that the game is one of the best for heightening both army and civilian morale.

He said today the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association plans, if told to go ahead, to emphasize games played by teams from army and war munitions camps.

GOVERNMENT SYMPATHETIC
William Tobin, president of the Chicago Black Hawks, and a Canadian veteran in the first Great War, said the Canadian government at present was sympathetic with the continuation of the National Hockey League.

Tobin said a canvass taken by the Canadian government revealed more than 1,500,000 people in the Dominion listened to radio broadcasts of hockey games in Toronto.

"The sport has a direct effect on the morale of a Canadian citizen, just as baseball's continuation helps in this country," Tobin added.

Major Frederick McLaughlin, owner of the Black Hawks and another first Great War veteran, has pledged to turn over every cent of profit from Hawks games this season to war aid funds.

Tobin believes the Black Hawks, holders of National League attendance records, will draw as well as last season. He says advance reservations are larger than ever. The Hawks will lose only four players. Goalie Sam Lo Presti is in the United States navy. Bill Carson and Alex Kaleta, forwards, are in the Canadian army. Joe Cooper, defence star, will be married in Winnipeg Saturday, but is subject to immediate military call.

Smith made at this juncture, but it definitely wasn't another peal of laughter.

WILL NEED COACHES

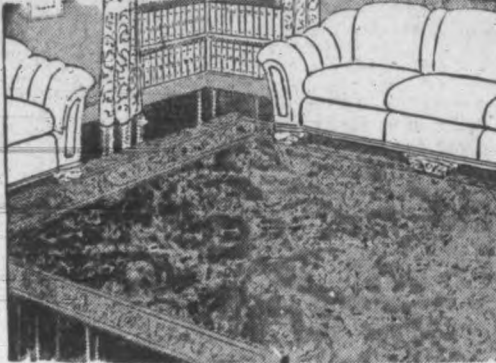

The Manitoba Golf Association has made its open tournament entry-free to servicemen. . . Interesting to see that Don Penniston, Quebec Aces coach, has applied for enlistment as an R.C.A.F. athletic instructor. . . after, all, with that overflow of player talent the air force will need a coach here and there. . . Vic (Saskatoon Star-Phoenix) May reports that four well-known Saskatchewan athletes will leave soon for overseas service with the Canadian fire-fighters. . . They are: Mel Neilson (hockey), Curley Woodhead (provincial diving champion), Lefty Davidson (boxing, football), and George Robins (hockey, baseball, football).

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll writes that Jack Sharkey is considering a spot of fight promoting in Montreal. . . Further on Dave Castiloux, Hal (Toronto Globe and Mail) Walker says there never has been a written contract between Castiloux and his manager, Raoul Godbout. . . As Walker predicted a few days ago, Godbout was right when he said Castiloux would fight again despite his announced decision to retire.

Big Increase In Ontario Betting

TORONTO (CP)—Total wagers at Ontario race tracks increased more than 1,000,000 this year, figures on the first 56 days of racing show.

Five tracks—Woodbine, Long Branch, Dufferin, Hamilton and Fort Erie—all show increases over 1941 spring totals, with Hamilton having the greatest increase over last year, $388,220. There was no spring meet at Thorncliffe in 1941 owing to a horsemen's strike, and comparison here is impossible.

Ontario wagering totals now stand at $9,421,116, as compared with $7,071,005 at this time last year.

Here are the figures by tracks for 1942 and 1941, with number of days of racing shown in brackets:
